THE RESULT.

The result of the election on Tuesday the 16th inst., shows that there is a grave doubt existing in the minds of the people as to the policy or safety of committing the administration of the government into the hands of the Democratic party. The apparent success of the Democracy last fall, caused the hidden treachery of the Democracy everywhere to unmask itself and lay bare its treasonable design to repudiate its formal acceptance of the results of the recent war, and acquiescence in the constitutional amendments and subsequent laws embodying the principles established thereby. The avaricious greed manifested by all Democrats elected to office, to put their hands into the crib of public patronage, and appropriate the perquisites thereof to self interest, even excels the klepto mania for unlawful gain that characterized them when they totally robbed the United States Treasury, Arsenal, &c., in the days of Floyd and Cobb, and left the nation bankrupt. The course of the Democrats, wherever they have the power to dictate a course, is such as to evince to all sober minded and thinking people, that their campaign cry of reform last fall was a delusion and a snare, and that the only reform contemplated by them was the reform that would place all the machinery of the government into the absolute control of the thieving and treasonable Democracy of the country, that they may prostitute it to the base purpose of their perpetuation in power until the government again ceases to be a protection to the citizen in his rights; until patriotism and treason are made synonymous and equally honored in the nation's capitol, and the nation reduced to irretrievable ruin and bankruptcy.

The result of the spring election indexes a distrust on the part of the people of a party that was too ready to peaceably hand the government over to the demands of treason and slavery, and submit to its overthrow and destruction without a struggle. And well may that distrust exist. Emboldened by a temporary success, Democracy has launched out into its wonted extravagances and corruptions, and the old thieves and rebels wheel into line and assume control of party machinery without a protest from the Democratic press, which is supposed to be the exponent of the true Democracy. Democratic statesmen (?) and the Democratic press of the county, vilify, defame and slander the Republican administration and all its officials, both civil and military, and speak but praises and laudations of Jeff Davis, and other ex-rebel chiefs, and make heroes of the foulest murderers that ever disgraced any community or nation. They palliate and justify the wholesale slaughter and massacres made by White Leagues and the Ku-klux of the South, and exhort to assassination of officers of the United States when the strong arm of the government is interposed in behalf of the rights and protection of her own unprotected citizens, and in behalf of order and good government.

Since the intention of the Democracy has become so apparent, it is not surprising that Republicans renew their allegiance to their party and the government, and show that renewal in the practical manner they did at the last election. Never was there a time that all good citizens were more forcibly appealed to, to stand in solid phalanx to oppose and resist the restoration of the corrupt Democracy to power. The only successful resistance to its restoration can be made through or by the Republican party. No other organization can be effected that could prevent a Democratic ascendency in 1876. Any disintegration of the Republican party would only strengthen and insure the success of the Democracy. Then it is of the utmost importance, yea, an imperative necessity, in view of the encouraging index of the late election in favor of the Republican party, that a speedy and effective organization of the party be made at once for the services of next fall's campaign. Let the organization be based on energy, activity, and honesty and integrity of purpose, and with the infusion of a youthful and vigorous element into it, and a lopping off of all dead weights, there can be no doubt of our good old Commonwealth taking the place of the Keystone of the grand triumphal arch of Republican victories that we must achieve in the coming campaign.

THE RAILROAD WAR.

The railroad war, which has been anticipated for some time, finally culminated last week by a collision between the Baltimore and Ohio, and the Pennsylvania railroad companies. The correspondence incident to the difficulties between Mr. Garrett, President of the former, and Col. T. A. Scott, on the part of the latter, is as sharp as it is decisive. It appears that the Baltimore and Ohio company have recently completed their road to Chicago. As soon as this was accomplished, they made a rate of freight on grain much below other trunk lines, viz: 35 cents per hundred pounds from Chicago to Baltimore. This of course, gave the Baltimore shippers very much the advantage over Philadelphia and New York shippers, and the presidents of the other trunk lines sought a conference with Mr. Garrett without coming to a satisfactory understanding. The Pennsylvania company then denied the Baltimore and Ohio company the privilege of running their cars over the Camden and Amboy roads, which cut them off from the through freight to and from New York. To enable the Baltimore and Ohio company to retaliate, they immediately reduced the through passenger fare from Philadelphia to the points named below, the rates from Baltimore being about two dollars less in each case.

The following circular, which has been issued within the past ten days, shows the figures to which rate to the West by the Pennsylvania railroad have been reduced:

|---|---|
| Pittsburg | $8,00 |
| Columbus | 11,00 |
| Wheeling | 8,00 |
| Zanesville | 10,00 |
| Indianapolis | 13,00 |
| Louisville | 14,00 |
| St. Louis | 17,00 |
| Chicago | 12,90 |
| Cincinnati | 12,00 |
| Memphis | 28,25 |
| Nashville | 21,45 |
| Omaha | 3,00 |
| St. Paul | 26,00 |
| Kansas City | 28,00 |

The following rates are now in operation on the Baltimore and Ohio. They differ but little from the circular issued by the Pennsylvania railroad:

|---|---|
| Pittsburg | $8,00 |
| Cincinnati | 12,00 |
| Nashville | 21,45 |
| Newark | 12,00 |
| St. Louis | 17,00 |
| New Orleans | 40,10 |
| St. Joseph | 28,00 |
| Chicago | 12,00 |
| Memphis | 25,50 |
| Zanesville | 13,00 |
| Louisville | 14,00 |
| Kansas City | 28,00 |
| Omaha | 28,00 |
| St. Paul | 26,00 |

It seems to be unquestioned that Colonel Scott has succeeded in laying a strict embargo on all freight from the North consigned to the Baltimore and Ohio. The only way that such freight can be put to its destination is by paying local rates on it to Philadelphia, and then having it carted across the city to the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore and Ohio freight depot, the Pennsylvania company refusing to allow its cars containing such freight to go further than its station here.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad, to overcome this difficulty, have made arrangements with the Old Dominion Steamship Company for the transportation by boat from New York to Baltimore of all freight that is to be shipped West by this road. The Old Dominion Steamship Company have promised to furnish any number of boats carrying 1,000 tons of freight, and it is thought by the Baltimore and Ohio Company that it will have freight enough to load one boat per day.

This action on the part of these two great monopolies is to be deplored. It is evident that the through rates of fare now promulgated will not pay the cost of transportation, which will necessarily require them to fall back on their local trafic to enable them to make up the deficiency. This of course, is hard upon those who do business in the interior or between the terminal points of these roads, and the Legislature of our State should take such action as will guarantee to the people of Pennsylvania against unjust local rates of freight, which these companies invariably charge when they get into such contests.

WHY WAS CAMPBELL DEFEATED?

Although the election in Centre Co. just held reduced the Democratic majority, and well nigh resulted in the election of our candidate for the Assembly, yet instead of a partial triumph we should have realized a real victory. The vote generally throughout the county was light being near seven hundred less than was polled last fall, which falling off was decidedly to our advantage and we should have fully profited by it. The Democrats on the other side the mountain in order to rebuke P. G. Meek did well for us. Instead of rolling up their usual majority of eight or nine hundred, W. K. Alexander, Meek's Pet, came over the mountain with simply no majority at all. We are glad to be able to commend the good sense and independent spirit of the staid and solid Democracy of Centre County in the rebuke they gave to the tyrannical exercise of the political control of P. G. Meek. He, contrary to their desire, by a species of political legerdemain peculiar to himself, imposed on them a very unpalatable candidate for Assembly. Restless under his domination they resolved to rebuke him, and did so but not so forcibly as they should, to have broken his power and control. Had we Republicans however fully done our duty. Meek would have been routed foot, horse and dragoon, and the sceptre of his political power broken. But as it is, his sceptre although weakened, still gently sways and we have lost by lack of energy and default a most favorably opportunity for political preferment in this county. It seems strange, but it is nevertheless true, that the Republicans of Centre County, can never be made to realize the advantages of an opportunity for political success. On Tuesday the 16st inst., there were in Centre County some thousand or twelve hundred Republican voters who did not go to the polls. Had but 161 of them gone to the polls and voted, we would to-day have a Republican representative from Centre County. How important then at all times to get out a full vote.

Although Republicans were laggard at the late election, in almost every part of the county, yet in certain localities where a full vote was polled we see a peculiar and almost inexplicable result. For instance take the vote of our own Borough.

In the South Ward a Republican was elected to the council, by a majority of two while the regular Democratic majority was about forty three. In the West Ward which should give a Republican majority of about thirty, W. P. Duncan was defeated for council by a Democrat by twenty three of a majority. In the North Ward, S. M. Irwin, Esq., was defeated by Gephart, a Democrat, by thirty nine of a majority, when the regular Republican majority was between forty and sixty. This result can only be understood or accounted for in one way. There is an order of but very recent date existing in the Borough and in several townships in the county of a political character known as the "Sons of 76." The leaders of which are B. L. Bachelor, A. Sternberg, W. W. Brown, and a few more of that ilk. The character of the leaders is too well known to necessitate any discussion of the nature, character and objects of the order. But whatever they may be, or however mentorious and worthy the object or end of the organization it is very patent, that its control has got into hands that will prostitute it to the basest purpose of the worst political demagogues, and for their own political aggrandizement.

We are told their prime object is to promote the interest of the laborer and mechanic, and protect them from the oppression of capital. The object may be a worthy and wise one, but in bad hands will work the most severe injury to the very men it is designed to protect as was shown at the late election in this borough. Take the case of Irwin in the North Ward. He was a candidate regularly nominated by the Republican caucus, of which caucus some thirty of the "sons of '76" were members; he was in every way qualified to fill and discharge well the duties of the office, his official record showing him to have been one of the best justices we ever had. He is a poor man, wholly dependent on his office for a livelihood, yet notwithstanding all that the "Sons of '76" defeated him. They were in honor bound, if they are ever bound by it, after going into causus to support him. If they are an organization in the interest of the poor man, why defeat Irwin and elect a man to the office of Justice who is worth "Fifty thousand dollars" if not more, when they were by all party rules bound to support Irwin, and we should think were also bound to support him, if the organization is honest, in the objects it professes to advocate. Surely the action of the Junior Sons was not consistent with their declared objects. But let us see if their action cannot be accounted for. W. W. Brown as one of the Chief Moguls. P. G. Meek, politically owns W. W. Brown and uses him and his influence for the promotion of his own political glory.

P. G. Meek is a Candidate for the State Senate, and is bending everything to secure the nomination next fall. He is somewhat afraid of the forces in Pennsvalley. He aims to get his hand on some parties who have influence over there. J. P. Gephart is the man Meek wants to either quiet his opposition, or secure his active friendship. He presents the bait of Justice in the North Ward and Gephart bites. Meek in order to elect Gephart must get the "Junior Sons of '76." To do this he reaches them through his pliant medium, W. W. Brown. "Brown you must be a Candidate for the nomination of Justice in North Ward. Of couse you will not get the nomination, but you not getting it, will make the Sons of '76 mad and they will then support Gephart." Brown goes in and does the bidding of P. G Meek, his political master, and the result is all that Meek could wish or desire. The Sons of '76 vote for Gephart and elect him while Meek takes the credit. The Sons of '76 were made the tools of political demagogues, and made to lie to their professions by electing a man of great wealth, who was politically their opponent, over a poor and dependent man, who was the peer of the rich man in every qualification for the office, and in sympathy with them politically, and P. G. Meek succeeded in putting the gag on Gephart by placing him under obligations to him for his election.

Gephart therefore is placed hors de combat in the coming Senatorial campaign, or won to Meek's support. In the South and West Wards, we see how Meek again hoodwinked the Junior Sons of '76. The proposition was to elect J. D. Miller, a Republican, and Junior Son Justice of those two Wards. Meek and his satellites assented, but Mr. Furey, worth some six or eight thousand dollars is a more efficient worker in Meek's interest in the coming campaign, and it would not do even to allow a Junior Son, however, worthy or needy, to be elected over one of P. G. Meek's strong supporters. So Furey was elected and Miller defeated and the Junior Sons made the tools of political demagogues in the South and West Wards as well as in the North Ward.

We also think that the Junior Sons being duped by P. G. Meek and his satellites, and under their control, contributed to the defeat of G. W. Campbell, our candidate for the Assembly.

HALF-COCKED!

The Watchman goes off at half-cock and crows lustily over the result of the late Borough election, claiming it to be a Democratic victory. A short analysis of the candidates and their antecedents who were elected and defeated, whom the Watchman now calls Democrats, will show a somewhat different light on the subject, and place the real facts, which the Watchman now tries to pervert, in a shape to be understood as they really exist. In the first place, there were nine borough and twenty ward officers to elect, making in all twenty-nine. The Republicans have elected sixteen officers out of the twenty-nine. Out of the remaining thirteen, we find that eight of the successful candidates were among those who opposed the election of Hon. L. A. Mackey, Hon. W. A. Wallace and Hon. John H. Orvis, the regular Democratic nominees last fall, viz: A. Sternberg, Wm. Furey, John McDermott, Jos. W. Furey, Jonathan Harper, S. M. Walker, H. F. Bartley and S. A. McQuistion. Robert McKnight, who bolted from the Democratic conference last fall was the only Modoc who was defeated. On the other hand, we find that of those who supported the regular Democratic ticket entire, last fall, George W. Jackson, John Hoffer, (who was elected Judge of Election in the South ward) A. Brockerhoff, J. P. Gephart and Levi A. Straub were elected, and F. Steinkeckner, John Hoffer, (for Borough Treasurer) Samuel F. Forster, Patrick Dooley, Henry Derr, Peter McMahan, David Z. Kline, Michael Morrison, John Bradley and W. T. Spear, were defeated—slaughtered in the house of their friends, and the "Watchman" rejoices that it is a Democratic victory. As to the election of J. P. Gephart, one of the regulars, our readers will find fully explained in an other column. Two of the other candidates being for Inspectors of elections of course had in reality, no opposition, which leaves Mr. Jackson and Mr. Hoffer (for Judge of election) the only two out and out regular Democrats who were really elected on a fair political contest.

Another peculiarity of the borough result is, that the honest sons of Erin were slaughtered, and Meek exults over it. In the South ward, Bradley was whipped for Councilman, and McMahan got laid out, and Charles Garner elected over him by Meek's victorious hosts. Then every thinking mind must see that Meek's crowing is not so much in consequence of a true and genuine Democratic triumph as it is because of a triumph of the Modoc element of the Democracy, and hence a triumph of Meek who sympathizes with and depends upon its strength and success for his own political advancement. That the "Watchman" has espoused the cause of the Modocs cannot be doubted. His identification with them, and determination to place and keep them in the ascendency, and whip the Penns valley Democracy into willing submission to them certainly stands out in bold relief. He has gained in this spring's campaign a fair foothold, and unless he is strongly withstood by the regulars, they will be compelled to obey his rule, and, like dogs, do his bidding.

THE ELECTION.

The result of the election is perhaps a surprise to all as it certainly is to us. We had expected from the information which we possessed of the condition of affairs among the Democracy of Penns Valley, that we should elect our candidate for the legislature, Mr. Campbell. The result has fully demonstrated that our expectations were well founded, for Democratic Potter, with its majority of fifty for our candidate, is the banner township of the county. Our defeat therefore is directly chargeable to the indifference and treason of the Republicans on this side of the mountain. The Democracy of Penns Valley have for a long time remonstrated against the corrupt manipulations of P. G. Meek. They have voted for the candidates whom he has forced upon them without regard to their wishes. They have seen him give their candidates a lukewarm support when he could not defeat them for the nomination by intrigue. They have borne with his overbearing dictatorial course until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue, and they have risen in their might like honest men, and spoken in thunder tones, saying we will no longer submit to have our claims disregarded; we will no longer dance to the tune of Meek's fiddle. This was our opportunity, but how have we improved it! Campbell, as honest a man as e'er the sun shown on, has been defeated by the very men whom he had every reason to suppose would be his friends; who were bound by every principle of honor among men to give him a cordial support. The cry comes up from Liberty Twp. from a certain few, traitors all, saying we did not know this man Campbell. Did they know Alexander? No! only that he was the pliant tool of Meek; and when after the election the wonder is expressed that this twp. did not give the usual Republican majority when the time was so opportune, they offer the silly excuse "we did not know the man." The vote in his own home clearly demonstrates that he is a man who has the love and respect of both friend and foe, and a popular man, for he has received the largest vote among his political opponents of any man that has run for office in this county for a long time, and has no competitor in this particular except Samuel Gramley, the present Republican Commissioner, and as Samuel Gramley was elected Commissioner so would George W. Campbell have been our representative at Harrisburg had it not been for the treason of certain men here in Bellefonte and in Liberty twp., and here and there throughout the Bald Eagle Valley, and the imbecility, want of judgment and indifference of some of our county committee, because forsooth, they "did not know the man." The chairman did what he could, but all his efforts were paralyzed by the masterly inactivity which prevailed almost everywhere on this side of the mountain. An opportunity such as we have not had before for fifteen years has been lost to us, but it may result in good if the party learns a lesson from its defeat.

In another column we have spoken of the local causes that operated against us here in Bellefonte, but we say that above all these, and responsible for their existance in a shape to injure us, are the so-called leaders of the party. If we ever want success these men must take back seats and allow men of more energy to take their places. What our party wants is workers not conceited gas bags. We are out of patience with men who will neither work or contribute funds, but while they toast their shins by their office stoves, talk wisely about how the campaign should be conducted.

Again, we need more thorough organization. Our county committee should be sifted and the worthless timber be weeded out. Such men as Ben Liggett, of Liberty, who have outlived their usefulness, should be replaced by more faithful and energetic workers. We have no fault to find with Mr. Liggett or any one else with the way they vote, but we do say that a man who does not intend to work with the party and holds a position of trust under it, either as a member of the County Committee or any other office in the gift of the party, should have the manliness and honor to say so and to send in a resignation, so that those having the conduct of affairs at headquarters may know whether they have a man at work or not. Republicans of Centre county, your leaders are to blame for our recent defeat. George W. Campbell has been slaughtered in the house of his friends. We have beaten ourselves.

A FEW WORDS TO FEEBLE AND DELICATE WOMEN.

By R. V. PIERCE, M. D., of the WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

Knowing that you are subject to a great amount of suffering, that delicacy on your part has a strong tendency to prolong, and the longer it is neglected the more you have to endure and the more difficult of cure your case becomes, I, as a physician, who is daily consulted by scores of your sex, desire to say to you, that I am constantly meeting with those who have been treated for months without being benefited in the least, until they have become perfectly discouraged and have almost made up their minds never to take another dose of medicine, nor be tortured by any further treatment. They had rather die and have their sufferings ended than to live and suffer as they have. They say they are worn out by suffering and are only made worse by treatment. Of anything more discouraging, we certainly cannot conceive, and were there no more successful mode of treating such difficulties than that, the principles of which teach the reducing and depleting of the vital forces of the system, when the indications dictate a treatment directly the reverse of the one adopted for them, their cases would be deplorable indeed. But lady sufferers, there is a better and far more successful plan of treatment for you; once more in harmony with the laws and requirements of your system. A harsh irritating caustic treatment and strong medicines will never cure you. If you would use rational means, such as common-sense should dictate to every intelligent lady, take such medicines as embody the very best invigorating tonics and nervines, compounded with special reference to your delicate system. Such a happy combination you will find in my Favorite Prescription which has received the loudest praise from thousands of your sex. Those languid tiresome sensations causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet or ascend a flight of stairs, that continual drain that is sapping from your systems all your former elasticity, and driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces that renders you irritable and fretful, may all be overcome and subdued by a persevering use of that marvelous remedy. Irregularities and obstructions to the proper workings of systems are relieved by this mild and safe means, while periodical pains, the existance of which is a sure indication of serious disease that should not be neglected, readily yield to it, and if its use is kept up for a reasonable length of time the special cause of these pains is permanently removed. Further light on these subjects may be obtained from my pamphlet on disease peculiar to your sex, sent on receipt of two stamps. My Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists.

THE FARMER'S FIRESIDE.

Around the fire, one wintry night,
The farmer's rosy children sat;
The fagot lent its blazing light,
And mirth went round, and harmless chat.

When, hark! a gentle hand they hear
Low tapping at the bolted door,
And thus to gain their willing ear,
A feeble voice was heard implore;

"Cold blows the wind across the moor,
The sleet drives hissing in the wind;
Yon toilsome mountain lies before,
A dreary, treeless waste behind.

"My eyes are dim and weak with age;
No road, no path can I descry;
And these poor rags ill stand the rage
Of such a keen, inclement sky.

"So faint I am, these tottering feet
No more my palsied frame can bear;
My freezing heart forgets to beat,
And drifting snows my tomb prepare.

"Open your hospitable door,
And shield me from the biting blast;
Cold, cold it blows across the moor,
The weary moor that I have passed."

With hasty steps the farmer ran,
And close beside the fire they place
The poor half-frozen beggar-man,
With shaking limbs and pale-blue face.

The little children flocking came,
And chafed his frozen hands in theirs;
And busily the good old dame
A comfortable mess prepares.

Their kindness cheered his drooping soul,
And slowly down his wrinkled cheek
The big round tear was seen to roll,
And told the thanks he could not speak.

The children then began to sigh,
And all their merry chat was o'er
And yet they felt they knew not why,
More glad than they had done before.

The following lines are not the production of Theodore Tilton, and have not been read on the Beecher trial. They were written by an impatient New Orleans girl to her lover, and were published in the Times of that city:

Give me a kisses—do not stay
Courting in that careful way;
All the coins your lips can print
Never will exhaust the mint;
Kiss me, then,
Every moment—and again!

Give me kisses—nay, 'tis true,
I am just as rich as you;
And for every kiss I owe
I can pay you back, you know;
Kiss me, then,
Every moment—and again!

Our Story Teller.

THE MINISTER'S BLACK VEIL.

A Parable by Nathaniel Hawthorn.

The sexton stood in the porch of the Milford meeting-house, pulling hastily at the bell-rope. The old people of the village came stooping along the street. Children, with bright faces, tript merrily beside their parents, or mimicked a graver gait, in the conscious dignity of their Sunday clothes. Spruce batchelors looked sidelong at the pretty maidens, and fancied that the Sabbath sunshine made them prettier than on week days. When the throng mostly streamed into the porch, the sexton began to toll the bell, keeping his eye on the Rev. Mr. Hooper's door. The first glimpse of the clergyman's figure was the signal for the bell to cease its summons.

"But what has good Parson Hooper got upon his face?" cried the sexton in astonishment.

All within hearing immediately turned about, and beheld the semblance of Mr. Hooper pacing slowly in his meditative way toward to meeting-house. With one accord they started, expressing more wonder than if a strange minister were coming to dust the cushions of Mr. Hooper's pulpit.

"Are you sure it is our pastor?" inquired Goodman Gray of the sexton.

"Of a certainty it is good Mr. Hooper," repled the sexton. "He was to have exchanged pulpits with Parson Shute of Westbury; but Parson Shute sent to excuse himself, yesterday, being to preach a funeral sermon."

The cause of so much amazement may appear sufficiently slight. Mr. Hooper, a gentlemanly person of about 30, though still a bachelor, was dressed with due clerical neatness, as if a careful wife had starched his band, and brushed the weekly dust from his Sunday grab. There was but one thing remarkable in his appearance. Swatched about his forehead, and hanging down over his face, so low as to be shaken by his breath, Mr. Hooper had on a black veil. On a nearer view, it seemed to consist of two folds of crape, which entirely concealed his features, except his mouth and chin, but probably did not intercept his sight further than to give a darkened aspect to all living and inanimate things. With this gloomy shade before him, good Mr. Hooper walked onward, at a slow and quiet pace, stooping somewhat and looking on the ground, as is customary with abstracted men, yet nodding kindly to those of his parishioners who still waited on the meeting-house steps. But so wonder-struck were they that his greeting met with no return.

"I can't really feel as if good Mr Hooper's face was really behind that piece of crape," said the sexton.

"Our parson has gone mad?" cried Goodman Gray, following him across the threshold.

A rumor of some unaccountable phenomenon had preceded Mr. Hooper into the meeting-house, and set all the congregation astir. Few could refrain from twisting their heads towards the door; many stood upright, and turned directly about; while several little boys clambered upon the seats, and came down again with a terrible racket. There was a general bustle, a rustling of the women's gowns and shuffling of the men's feet, greatly at variance with that hushed repose which should attend the entrance of the minister. But Mr. Hooper appeared not to notice the perturbation of his people. He entered with an almost noiseless step, bent his head mildly to the pews on each side, and bowed as he passed his oldest parishioner, a white-haired, great-grandshire, who occupied an arm-chair in the centre of the aisle. It was strange to observe how slowly the venerable man became conscious of something singular in the appearance of his pastor. He seemed not fully to partake of the prevailing wonder, till Mr. Hooper had ascended the stairs, and showed himself in the pulpit, face to face with the congregation, except for the black veil. That mysterious emblem was never once withdrawn. It shook with his measured breath as he gave out the psalm; it threw its obscurity between him and the holy page, as he read the Scriptures; and while he prayed, the veil lay heavily on his uplifted countenance. Did he seek to hide it from the dread being whom he was addressing?

Such was the effect of this simple piece of crape, that more than one woman of delicate nerves were forced to leave the meeting-house. Yet perhaps the pale-faced congregation was almost as fearful a sight to the minister, as his black veil to them.

Mr. Hooper had the reputation of a good preacher, but not an energetic one; he strove to win his people heavenward by mild, persuasive influences rather than to drive them thither by the thunders of the word. The sermon which he now delivered was marked by the same characteristics of style and manner as the general series of his pulpit oratory. But there was somthing, either in the sentiment of the discourse itself, or in the imagination of the auditors, which made it greatly the most powerful effort that they had ever heard delivered from their pastor's lips. It was tinged, rather more darkly than usual, with the gentle gloom of Mr Hooper's temperament. The subject had reference to secret sin, and those sad mysteries which we hide from our nearest and dearest, and would fain conceal from our own consciousness even forgetting that the Omniscient can detect them. A subtile power was breathed into his words. Each member of the congregation, the most innocent girl, and the man of hardened breast, felt as if the preacher had crept upon them, behind his awful veil, and discovered their hoarded iniquity of deed or thought. Many spread their clasped hands on their bosoms. There was nothing terrible in what Mr. Hooper said; at least no violence; and yet, with every tremor of his melancholy voice, the hearers quaked. An unsought pathos came hand-in-hand with awe. So sensible were the audience of some unwonted attribute in their minister, that they longed for a breath of wind to blow aside the veil, almost believing that a stranger's visage would be discovered, though the form, gesture and voice were those of Mr. Hooper.

At the close of the service, the people hurried out with indecorous confusion, eager to communicate their pent-up amazement, and conscious of lighter spirits, the moment they lost sight of the black veil. Some gathered in little circles, huddling closely together, with their mouths all whispering in the center; some went homeward alone, wrapt in silent meditation; some talked loudly, and profaned the Sabbath-day with ostentatious laughter. A few shook their sagacious heads, intimating that they could penetrate the mystery; while one or two affirmed that there was no mystery at all, but only that Mr. Hooper's eyes were weakened by the midnight lamp as to require a shade. After a brief interval, forth came good Mr. Hooper also, in the rear of his flock. Turning his veiled face from one group to another, he paid due reverence to the hoary heads, saluted the middle-aged with kind dignity, as their friend and spiritual guide, greeted the young with mingled authority and love, and laid his hands on the little childrens' heads to bless them. Such was always his custom on the Sabbath-day. Strange and bewildered looks repaid him for his courtesy. None, as on former occasions, aspired to the honor of walking by their pastor's side. Old Squire Saunders, doubtless by an accidental lapse of memory, neglected to invite Mr. Hooper to his table, where the good clergyman had been wont to bless the food, almost every Sunday since his settlement. He returned, therefore, to the parsonage, and at the moment of closing the door was observed to look back upon the people, all of whom had their eyes fixed upon the minister. A sad smile gleamed faintly from beneath the black veil, and flickered about his mouth, glimmering as he disappeared.

"How strange," said a lady, "that a simple black veil, such as any woman might wear in her bonnet, should become such a terrible thing on Mr. Hooper's face!"

"Something must surely be amiss with Mr. Hooper's intellect," observed her husband, the physician of the village. "But the strangest part of the affair is the effect of this vagary, even on a sober-minded man like myself. The black veil, though it covers only our pastor's face, throws its influence over his whole person, and makes him ghostlylike from head to foot. Do you feel it so?"

"Truly do I," replied the lady, "and I would not be alone with him for the world, I wonder he is not afraid to be alone with himself?"

"Men sometimes are so," said her husband.

The afternoon service was attended with similar circumstances. At its conclusion, the bell tolled for the funeral of a young lady. The relatives and friends were assembled in the house, and the more distant acquaintances stood about the door, speaking of the good qualities of the deceased, when their talk was interrupted by the appearance of Mr. Hooper, still covered with his black veil. It was now an appropriate emblem. The clergyman stepped into the room where the corpse was laid, and bent over the coffin, to take a last farewell of his deceased parishioner. As he stooped, the veil hung straight down from his forehead, so that, if her eyelids had not been closed forever, the dead maiden might have seen his face. Could Mr. Hooper be fearful of her glance, that he so hastily caught back the black veil? A person who watched the interview between the dead and living scrupled not to affirm that, at the instant when the clergyman's features were disclosed, the corpse had slightly shuddered, rustling the shroud and muslin cap, though the countenance retained the composure of death. A superstitious old woman was the only witness of this prodigy. From the coffin, Mr. Hooper passed into the chamber of the mourners, and thence to the head of the staircase, to make the funeral prayer. It was a tender and heart-dissolving prayer, full of sorrow, yet so imbued with celestial hopes, that the music of a heavenly harp, swept by the fingers of the dead, seemed faintly to be heard among the saddest accents of the minister. The people trembled, though they but darkly understood him when he prayed that they, and himself, and all of moral race, might be ready, as he trusted this young maiden had been, for the dreadful hour that shall snatch the veil from their faces. The bearers went heavily forth, and the mourners followed, saddening all the street, with the dead before them, and Mr. Hooper in his black veil behind.

"Why do you look back?" said one in the procession to his partner.

"I had a fancy," replied she that the minister and the maiden's spirit were walking hand-in-hand."

"And so had I, at the same moment," said the other.

That night the handsomest couple in Milford village were to be joined in wedlock. Though reckoned a melancholy man, Mr. Hooper had a placid cheerfulness for such occasions, which often excited a sympathetic smile where livelier merriment would have been thrown away. There was no quality of his disposition which made him more beloved than this. The company at the wedding awaited his arrival with impatience, trusting that the strange awe which had gathered over him throughout the day would now be dispelled. But such was not the result. When Mr. Hooper came, the first thing that their eyes rested on was the same horrible black veil, which had added deeper gloom to the funeral, and could portend nothing but evil to the wedding. Such was its immediate effect on the guests, that a cloud seemed to have rolled duskily from beneath the black crape, and dimmed the light of the candles. The bridal pair stood up before the minister. But the bride's cold fingers quivered in the tremulous hand of the bridegroom, and her death-like paleness caused a whisper that the maiden who had been buried a few hours before, was come from her grave to be married. If ever another wedding were so dismal, it was that famous one where they tolled the wedding knell. After performing the ceremony, Mr. Hooper raised a glass of wine to his lips, wishing happiness to the new-married couple in a strain of mild pleasantry that ought to have brightened the features of the guests, like a cheerful gleam from the hearth. At that instant, catching a glimpse of his figure in the looking-glass, the black veil involved his own spirit in the horror with which it overwhelmed all others. His frame shuddered—his lips grew white—he split the untasted wine upon the carpet—and rushed forth into the darkness. For the earth, too, had on a black veil.

The next day, the whole village of Milford talked of little else than Parson Hooper's black veil. That, and the mystery concealed behind it, supplied a topic for discussion between acquaintances meeting in the street, and good women gossiping at their open windows. It was the first item of news that the tavern-keeper told his guests. The children babled of it on their way to school. One imitative little imp covered his face with an old black handkerchief, thereby so affrighting his playmates, that the panic seized himself, and he well-nigh lost his wits by his own waggery.

It was remarkable that of all the busy bodies and impertinent people in the parish, not one ventured to put the plain question to Mr. Hooper, wherefore he did this thing. Hitherto, whenever there appeared the slightest call for such interference, he had never lacked advisers, nor shown himself averse to be guided by their judgment. If he erred at all, it was by so painful a degree of self-distrust, that even the mildest censure would lead him to consider an indifferent action as a crime. Yet, though so well acquainted with this amiable weakness, no individual among his parishioners chose to make the black veil a subject of friendly remonstrance. There was a feeling of dread neither plainly confessed nor carefully concealed, which caused each to shift the responsibility upon another, till at length it was found expedient to send a deputation of the church, in order to deal with Mr. Hooper about the mystery, before it should grow into a scandal. Never did any embassy so ill discharge its duties. The minister received them with friendly courtesy, but became silent, after they were seated, leaving to his visitors the whole burden of introducing their important business. The topic, it might be supposed, was obvious enough. There was the black veil, swathed round Mr. Hooper's forehead, and concealing every feature above his placid mouth, on which at times, they could perceive the glimmering of a melancholy smile. But that piece of crape, to their imagination, seemed to hang down before his heart, the symbol of a fearful secret between him and them. Were the veil but cast aside, they might speak freely of it, but not till then. Thus they sat a considerable time, speechless, confused, and shrinking uneasily from Mr. Hooper's eye, which they felt to be fixed upon them with an invisible glance. Finally the deputies returned abashed to their constituents pronouncing the matter too weighty to be handled, except by a council of the churches, if, indeed, it might not require a general synod.

But there was one peron in the village unappalled by the awe with which the black veil had impressed all beside herself. When the deputies returned without an explanation, or even venturing to demand one, she, with the calm energy of her character, determined to chase away the strange cloud that seemed to be setting round Mr. Hooper, every moment more darkly than before. As his plighted wife, it should be her privilege to know what the black veil concealed.

At the minister's first visit, therefore, she entered upon the subject, with a direct simplicity, which made the task easier both for him and her. After he had seated himself, she fixed her eyes steadfastly upon the veil, but could discern nothing of the dreadful gloom that had so overawed the multitude; it was but a double fold of crape hanging down from his forehead to his mouth and slightly stirring with his breath.

"No," said she aloud, and smiling, "there is nothing terrible in this piece of crape, except that it hides a face which I am always glad to look upon. Come, good sir, let the sun shine from behind the cloud. Frist lay aside your black veil, then tell me why you put it on."

Mr. Hooper's smile glimmered faintly.

"There is an hour to come," said he, "when all of us shall cast aside our veil. Take it not amiss, beloved friend, if I wear this piece of crape till then."

"Your words are a mystery, too," returned the young lady. "Take away the veil from them at least."

"Elizabeth, I will," said he, "so far as my vow may suffer me. Know, then, this veil is a type and a symbol, and I am bound to wear it ever, both in light and darkness in solitude and before the gaze of multitudes, and as with strangers, so with my familiar friends. No mortal eye will see it withdrawn. This dismal shade must separate me from the world; even you, Elizabeth, can never come behind it!"

"What grievous affliction has befallen you," she earnestly inquired, "you should thus darken your eyes forever?"

"If it be a sign of mourning," replied Mr. Hooper, "I, perhaps, like most other mortals have sorrows dark enough to be typified by a black veil."

"But what if the world will not believe that is the type of an innocent sorrow?" urged Elizabeth. "Beloved and respected as you are, there may be a whisper, that you hide your face under the consciousness of secret sin. For the sake of your holy office do away this scandal!"

The color rose into her cheeks, as she intimated the nature of the rumors that were already abroad in the village. But Mr. Hooper's mildness did not forsake him. He even smiled again—that same sad smile, which always appeared like a faint glimmering of light, proceeding from the obscurity beneath the veil.

"If I hide my face for sorrow, there is cause enough," he merely replied; "and if I cover it for secret sin, what mortal might not do the same?"

And with this gentle but unconquerable obstinacy did he resist all her entreaties. At length Elizabeth sat silent. For a few moments she appeared lost in thought, considering probably, what new methods might be tried to withdraw her lover from so dark a phantasy, which if it had no other meaning, was perhaps a symptom of mental disease. Though of a firmer character than his own, the tears rolled down her cheeks. But in an instant, as it were, a new feeling took that of sorrow. Her eyes were fixed insensible on the black veil, when, like a sudden twilight in the air, its terror fell around her. She arose, and stood trembling before him.

"And do you feel it, then; at last?" said he mournfully.

She made no reply, but covered her eyes with her hand, and turned to leave the room. He rushed forward and caught her arm.

"Have patience with me, Elizabeth!" cried he, passionately. "Do not desert me, though this veil must be between us here on earth. Be mine, and hereafter there shall be no veil over my face—no darkness between our souls! It is but a mortal veil—it is not for eternity! Oh! you know not how lonely I am, and how frightened, to be alone behind my black veil—it is not for eternity! Do not leave me by this miserable obscurity forever."

"Lift the veil but once, and look me in the face," said she.

"Never, it cannot be," replied Mr. Hooper.

"Then, farewell!" said Elizabeth.

She withdrew her arm from his grasp and slowly departed, pausing at the door to give one long, shuddering gaze, that seemed almost to penetrate the mystery of the black veil. But, even amid his grief, Mr. Hooper smiled to think that only a material emblem had separated him from happiness, though the horrors which it shadowed forth must be drawn darkly between the fondest of lovers.

From that time no attempts were made to remove Mr. Hooper's black veil, or, by a direct appeal, to discover the secret which it was supposed to hide. By persons who claimed a superiority to popular prejudice, it was reckoned merely an eccentric whim, such as often mingles with the sober actions of men otherwise rational, and tinges them all with its own semblance of insanity. But with the multitude good Mr. Hooper was irreparably a bugbear. He could not walk the street with any peace of mind, so conscious was he that the gentle and timid would turn aside to avoid him, and that others would make it a point of hardihood to throw themselves in his way. The impertinence of the latter class compelled him to give up the customary walk at sunset to the burial-ground; for when he leaned pensively over the gate, there would always be faces behind the grave-stones peeping at this black veil. A fable went the rounds that the stare of the dead people drove him hence. It grieved him to the very depth of his kind heart to observe how the children fled from his approach, breaking up their merriest sports while his melancholy figure was yet afar off. Their instinctive dread caused him to feel more strongly than aught else that a preternatural horror was interwoven with the threads of the black crape. In truth, his own antipathy to the veil was known to be so great that he never willingly passed before a mirror, nor stooped to drink at a still fountain, lest in his peaceful bosom he should be affrighted by himself. This was what gave plausibility to the whispers that Mr. Hooper's conscience tortured him for some great crime too horrible to be entirely concealed, or otherwise than so obscurely intimated. Thus from beneath the black veil, there rolled a cloud into the sunshine, an ambiguity of sin or sorrow, which enveloped the poor minister, so that love or sympathy could never reach him. It was said that ghost and fiend conscrted with him there. With self-shudderings and outward terrors, he walked continually in its shadow, groping darkly within his own soul, or gazing through a medium that saddened the whole world. Even the lawless wind, it was believed, respected this dreadful secret, and never blew aside the veil. But still good Mr. Hooper sadly smiled at the pale visages of the worldly throng as they passed by.

Among all its bad influences, the black veil had the one desirable effect of making its wearer a very efficient clergyman. By the aid of his mysterious emblem—for there was no other apparent cause—he became a man of awful power over souls that were in agony for sin. His converts always regarded him with a dread peculiar to themselves, affirming, though but figuratively, that, before he brought them to celestial light they had been with him behind the black veil. Its gloom, indeed, enabled him to sympathize with all dark afflictions. Dying sinners cried aloud for Mr. Hooper, and would not yield their breath till he appeared—though ever, as he stooped to whisper consolation, they shuddered at the veiled face so near their own. Such were the terrors of the black veil, even when death had bared his visage! Strangers came long distances to attend service at his church, with the mere idle purpose of gazing at this figure because it was forbidden them to behold his face. But many were made to quake ere they departed! Once, during Gov. Belcher's administration, Mr. Hooper was appointed to preach the election sermon. Covered with his black veil, he stood before the chief magistrate, the council, and the representatives, and wrought up so deep an impression that the legislative measures of that year were characterized by all the gloom and piety of our ancestral sway.

In this manner Mr. Hooper spent a long life, irreproachable in outward act, yet shrouded in dismal suspicions; kind and loving, though unloved, and dimly feared; a man apart from men, shunned in their health and joy, but ever summoned to their aid, in moral agonies. As years wore on, shedding their snows above his sable veil, he acquired a name throughout New England churches, and they called him Father Hooper. Nearly all his parishioners who were of mature age when he was settled had been borne away by many a funeral; he had one congregation in the church, and more crowded one in the church-yard; and having wrought so late into the evening, and done his work so well, it was now good Father Hooper's turn to rest.

Several persons were visible by the shaded candle-light in the death chamber of the old clergyman. Natural connections he had none. But there was the decorously grave though unmoved, physician, seeking only to mitigate the last pangs of the patient whom he could not save. There were the deacons and other eminently pious members of his church. There, also, was the Rev. Mr. Clark of Westburg, a young and zealous divine, who had ridden in haste to pray by the bedside of the expiring minister. There was the nurse, no hired handmaiden of death, but one whose affection had endured thus long in secrecy, in solitude, amid the child of age, and would not perish, even at the dying hour. Who, but Elizabeth! And there lay the hoary head of good Father Hooper upon the death-pillow, with the black veil still swathed about his brow and reaching down over his face, so that each more difficult grasp of his faint breath caused it to stir. All through life that piece of crape had hung between him and the world; it had separated him from cheerful brotherhood and woman's love, and kept him in that saddest of all prisons, his own heart; and still it lay upon his face, as if to deepen the gloom of his darksome chamber, and shade him from the sunshine of eternity.

For some time previous, his mind had been confused, wavering doubtfully between the past and the present, at intervals, into the indistinctness of the world to come. There had been feverish turns, which tossed him from side to side, and wore away what little strength he had. But in his most convulsive struggles and in the wildest vagaries of his intellect, when no other thought retained its sober influence, he still showed an awful solicitude lest the black veil should slip aside. Even if his bewildered soul could have forgotten there was a faithful woman at his pillow, who, with averted eyes would have covered that aged face, which she had last beheld in the comeliness of manhood. At length the death-striken old man lay quietly in the torpor of mental and bodily exhaustion, with an imperceptible pulse, and breath that grew fainter, except when a long, deep and irregular inspiration seemed to prelude the flight of his spirit.

The minister of Westbury approached the bedside. "Venerable Father Hooper," said he, "the moment of your release is at hand. Are you ready for the lifting of the veil that shuts in time from eternity?"

Father Hooper at first replied merely by a feeble motion of the head; then apprehensive, perhaps, that this meaning might be doubtful, he exerted himself to speak.

"Yea," said he, in faint accents, "my son hath a patient weariness until the veil be lifted."

"And is it fitting," resumed the Rev. Mr. Clark, "that a man so given to prayer, of such a blameless example, holy in deed and thought, so far as mortal judgment can pronounce—is it fitting that a father in the church should leave shadow on his memory that may seem to blacken a life so pure? I pray you, my venerable brother, let not this thing be. Suffer us to be gladdened by your triumphant aspect as you go to your reward. Before the veil of eternity be lifted, let me cast aside this black veil from your face!"

And thus speaking, the Rev. Mr. Clark bent forward to reveal the mystery of so many years. But exerting a sudden energy that made all the beholders stand aghast. Father Hooper snatched both his hands from beneath the bed-clothes, and pressed them strongly on the black-veil, resolute to struggle, if the minister of Westbury would contend with a dying man.

"Never!" cried the veiled clergyman; "on earth, never!"

"Dark old man," exclaimed the affrighted minister, "with what horrible crime upon your soul are you now passing to the judgment?"

Father Hooper's breath heaved; it rattled in his throat; but with a mighty effort, grasping forward with his hands he caught hold of life, and held it back till he should speak. He even raised himself in bed; and there he sat, shivering with the arms of death around him, while the black veil hung down; awful, at that last moment, in the gathered terrors of a life-time. And yet the faint, sad smile, so often there, now seemed to glimmer from obscurity, and linger on Father Hooper's lips.

"Why do you tremble at me alone?" cried he, turning his veiled face round the circle of pale spectators. "Tremble at each other! Have men avoided me, and women shown no pity, and children screamed and fled, only for my black veil! What but the mystery which it obscurely typifies, has made this piece of crape so awful? When the friend shows his utmost heart to his friend; the lover to his beloved: when a man does not vainly shrink from the eye of his Creator, loathsomely treasuring up the secret of his sin—then deem me a monster for the symbol beneath which I have lived and die! I look around me, and lo!—on every visage a black veil!"

While his auditors shrank from one another, in mutual affright Father Hooper fell back upon his pillow, a veiled corpse, with a faint smile lingering on the lips. Still veiled, they laid him in his coffin, and a veiled corpse they bore him to the grave. The grass of many years has sprung up and withered on the grave, the burial-stone is moss-grown, and good Mr. Hooper's face is dust; but awful is still the thought that it mouldered beneath the black veil!

Says a Johnny Bull nabob to his Yankee servant: "Henry go get a mince pie, put it hon the stove and eat it: but don't heat it." Henry obeyed orders with alacrity, and carried them out to a letter. After ten or fifteen minutes the Henglishman ordered up the pie. "Why, I have eaten it up," quoth Henry; "you told me to eat it, but not to heat it; so I took it out by the kitchen stove and made away with it." "I told you," roared irate Johnny, "to eat it but not to heat it!" "That's exactly what I did," put in Henry, "and what in thunder are you grumbling at when I did what you told me?"

Monday night a policeman, passing along Second street, discovered a ghostly object standing by a gate, and crossing over he found that it was a man in his night clothes. "I didn't know but that you were walking in your sleep," said the officer. "No; I was standing out here to wait till the old woman got over being mad and dropped to sleep?" quietly replied the citizen.—Free Press.

Superstitious Fears.

BY EMORY J. HAYNES.

"There is no fear in love."—1 John iv., 18.

THE NEW MOON OVER THE LEFT SHOULDER.

It would be sad, were it not so laughable, to what an extent certain small superstitions have power to make lives unhappy even in this ripe age. Three friends are walking on the street as the day goes down, a day fair, clear, with stars crowding the sunset. As they walk they talk, when one, gazing up to the sky—the party were facing Northward—exclaims: "Oh, the new moon!" seen, of course, over the left shoulder. You will actually find, and that too, in this late century, one of the party to exclaim: "Why did you call my attention for I saw it over my left shoulder, dread sign of ill-luck! Yet stay; I did not really see the moon, did I?" and turning, the first glimpse of the crescent is thus received over the right shoulder. You reply I make too much of a fancy yet it cannot be denied that this old folly has power to confer momentary apprehension or assurance. Dear old simple faced moon! rolling along in the cheery, blundering way; peeping into windows, falling into nightly mirrors, thou hast caused more trouble down here on earth with bean patches and other planted fields, with sailors and girls and nervous sleepers—more trouble than thou knowest!

UNLUCKY FRIDAY.

Here is another undoubted case. Friday is a day of ill omen. Who first said so can't be told, or why. It is necessary for some reason, suppose, to have the wedding on Friday. What dismay among the female friends of the bride! "Friday? Never!" "She'll be pursued by bad luck!" "Impossible!" "Friday indeed! I'd not be married on Friday if I"— And while the family are discussing, in comes Master Jack, the youngest brother of the betrothed, bright impertinent, fresh from the public school at noon—fourteen. "Grandma, what is the harm of Friday?" "Great harm, my child." "But, grandma, I read in the family record in the Bible how father wrote that sister Susie was born on Friday, April 6, 1852." "Child, child! why did you bring that to mind, when I am always trying to forget the tragic fact!" "But I read in a book that Columbus sailed on Friday, and on that day discovered America, that Washington was born on Friday, the first glorious Fourth of July was on Friday, Saratoga and Yorktown victories were on Friday! Hurrah, grandma, hurrah!" "Alas," bemoans the dear lady, "alas, they are teaching so much to the children nowdays that infidelity is coming in like a flood, and all the old landmarks will soon be gone!" In due time the wedding occurs, and on Friday. Lo, it rains also! And this is the 'bride's day,' prognostic of her life future! Tell me, out of fifty guests of the parlors, will not four at least go away shadowed by a sign, apprenensive for their young friend. And if by chance some accident or ill does come, will you deny me that these four clap hand to hand with exclamation, "There, married on Friday, and in the rain!" As if the great, good God, who rules this world all or rules it none, could allow one day mystic power of evil.

DREAMS AND OMENS.

There are those who swear, "I know dreams prognosticate!" There are those who tremble if a hearse chances to stop before their door. Why stopped the hearse? The horse cast a shoe; the driver pulled him up to find it. And the great Father, who rules this world by a law of love, seeing indeed that sombre vehicle, must needs turn to the angel of death, commanding, "Go, therefore, Death, and take a child!" Why dreamed you a "bad dream?" Plum pudding at 10 o'clock, night; and great Providence thus foretells sickness in your daughter's family in Chicago. Away! What can be more profane? Surely no oath. Therefore the true Christian uncovers himself, saying: "I so contemn and spit upon these all, that I do imprecate upon my devoted head every bad sign of the hag's art. If I could defy them all at once I would. My God loves me; I love Him. He never speaks to me with dread presentiments nor with the snap of a piano string. He speaks by the book, by history, by reason, by the still, small voice.

THE SHOE-BLACK.

"Good evening, Mike." "You didn't guess right that time; Jim, sir, is my name. A shine?" "No, Jim, thanks; father and mother living?" "Don't know 'em, sir?" "Ever go to school?" "Not I?" "Church." "What's church?" Over the river he buys a pie at a low stand, and see before he eats he crosses himself. "Jim you told me a falsehood. Why you are a Roman Catholic—you crossed yourself." "Don't know what that is, sir, you call me, but I allus make that sign—it's against bad luck." All else of religion taught in infancy is gone but this lingering shred of fear. Further up the darker alley from Water street a pistol-shot rings out; Jim crosses the street to the opposite side, and retreats upon a run. Why did he not turn in his tracks, retreating on the same side? "A sign, sir, of bad luck." Further up the alley—for, not having the money for Old Bowery and its play, he is going home; up five flights of crazy stairs, in an entry-way at the hall's further end, a dry-goods box and straw; before he falls in for sleep he makes a bow to a picture on the night-shadowed wall. The bow is not the crossing genuflection of the Romanist. The picture is not the Virgin nor the Christ, nor the Pope, but an old colored campaign print of Gen. Fremont, which the boy once fished from an ash-barrel by an up-town curb-stone. "Jim, why do you bow to that picture?" "It's against bad luck, sir." And with the watching stars of the good unknown God looking in at the smutched window, he wraps himself in a religion, not of love, or of any sweet gratitude, but of fear, and sleeps. Go ask those beneficient workers with these gamin of the countless vagaries of 'faith' found among them. The same thing is noticeable among ruffians. A burglar creeps towards your house—is half across the lawn—a cock crows! he stops, it is a sign in a religion of fear; or, before he starts upon his errand he tosses up a penny—"Heads I win, tails I shall lose," it is tails, and millions would not tempt him to the effort. Gamblers and lottery dealers are among the most "religiously" moved of men—the word of the fortune teller being to them an Elijah voice.

THE YOUNG MAN.

"I am not a member of your church, yet I would have you understand I am not without religion: I pray." Yes, and the facts are these: the young man is far from home, among strangers, diphtheria is prevalent, a fellow-clerk died with it, and has recently been converted; but our friend is too hard of heart for that, though fearing to be utterly faithless, and hence prays. He repeats the Lord's prayer every night. It is not because he hungers after righteousness, nor loves to talk with Jesus his Saviour; but as a talisman it is used.

FREE-MASONRY.

I know Free-Masons, respect and value them; I know other similar organizations; and I think I know some men who embrace and accept these noble moral bonds, saying: "I dare not be without any religion, yet I cannot bow a mourner at prayer-meeting altars. Will not, O Lord, this fraternization do?" Are there no women who thus present their activity in mission schools, fairs for the church, benevolent societies, unwilling to bend as a "seeker," asking: "Lord, I fear to live utterly without fealty; will not these things do?"

I invite you to-night into the liberty of love, out from the slavery of a fear which counts each prayer, and measures Bible reading by square inches.—Methodist.

CALDWELL'S WINE AND IRON BITTERS

These celebrated Bitters are pure, safe and reliable; composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs with Citrate of Iron and pure native wine, made from the native grapes of California, the ingredients are choice, strengthening, purifying and life-giving medicinal agents, forming the most pleasant and healthy stimulating tonic and strengthening Bitters for improving the appetite giving tone and vital energy to the blood and system. For medicinal purposes, for family use, travelers, voyagers, etc., they cannot be surpassed.

These bitters are in an eminent degree strengthening, purifying, diuretic stimulating and nourishing to the whole system, giving new life and activity to every organ and part alike, without that ever recurring reaction that follows the use of most all other tonics and stimulants in the market. For

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:

It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY DE WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Bitters?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

The Civil Rights Bill passed the National House of Representives a week ago last Saturday. We think that every just minded man will say this is just right. It is necessary that something should be done to protect the freedmen whose rights are being trampled upon all through the Southern States. The voices of the colored people and Republicans of the South, oppressed and overawed, appeal for relief from the very causes which produced the war. The graves of those who gave their life for liberty utter a silent protest against leaving the work they had begun unfinished.

Below we give the bill:

SEC. 1. That all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States shall be entitled to full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, public conveyances on land or water, theaters and other places of public amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to citizens of every race and color, regardless of any previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. That any person who shall violate the foregoing section by denying to any citizen, except for reasons by law applicable to citizens of every race and color and regardless of any previous condition of servitude, the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations advantages facilities or privileges in said section enumerated, or by aiding or inciting such denial, shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars to the person aggrieved thereby, to be recovered in an action of debt, with full costs; and shall also, for every such offense, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than one year. Provided, that all persons may elect to sue for the penalty aforesaid or to proceed under their right at common law and by States statutes and, having so elected to proceed in the one mode or the other, their right to proceed in the other jurisdiction shall be barred, but this proviso shall not apply to criminal proceedings either under this act or the crimi-law of any State; and provide further, that a judgment for the penalty in favor of the party aggrieved, or a judgement upon an indictment, shall be a bar to either prosecution, respectively.

SEC. 3. That the district and circuit courts of the United States shall have, exclusively of the courts of the several States, cognizance of all crimes and offenses against and violations of the provisions of this act, and actions for the penalty given by the preceeding section may be prosecuted in the territorial district, or circuit courts of the United States wherever the defendant may be found without regard to the other party. And the district attorneys, marshals, and deputy marshals of the United States, and commissioners appointed by the circuit and territorial courts of the United States with powers of arresting and imprisoning or bailing offenders against the laws of the United States, are hereby especially authorized and required to institute proceedings against every person who shall violate the provisions of this act, and cause him to be arrested and imprisoned or bailed, as the case may be, for trial before such court of the United States or territorial court as by law has cognizance of the offense, except in respect of the right of action occuring to the person aggrieved, and such proceedings to be prosecuted to the determination as in other cases. Provided, that nothing contained in this section shall be constructed to deny or defeat any right of civil action accruing to any person, whether by reason of this act or otherwise, and district attorney who shall willfully institute and prosecute the proceedings herein required shall for every such offense, forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars to the person aggrieved thereby, to be recovered by an action of debt, with full costs, and shall, on conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not less than one thousand nor more than five thousand dollars; and provide further, that a judgement for the penalty in favor of the party aggrieved, against any such district attorney, or a judgement upon an indictment against any such district attorney, shall be a bar to either prosecution, respectively.

SEC. 4. That no citizen possessing all other qualifications which are or may be prescribed by law, shall be disqualified for service as grand or petit juror in any court of the United States, or of any State on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude; and any officer or other person charged with any duty in the selection or summoning of jurors who shall exclude or fail to summon any citizen for the cause aforesaid, shall, on conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not more than five thousand dollars.

SEC. 5. That all cases arising under the provisions of this act in the courts of the United States shall be reviewable by the Supreme Court of the United States, without the regard to the sum in controversy under the same provisions and regulations as are now provided by law for the review of other cause in said courts.

Philadelphia Market Report.

Monday, Feb. 22, 1875.

REMARKS—The clear weather which has prevailed since our last report, has caused a better feeling in mercantile circles generally, and there is a marked improvement in many departments of trade. Industries are progressing as favorably as could be expected, all things considered, and there appears to be no doubt but that we shall have a fair Spring business. In every department trade appears to be considered upon sound principles of economy, which is certainly a favorable feature.

GRIAN—Supplies of Wheat continue to come forward slowly, but the market, influenced by unfavorable Cable advices and low prices of Flour, is dull. Prices are now at the lowest point since last harvest, yet exporters claim that they are without margin. The present requirements of England are much lighter than had been expected. Prices of Spring continue entirely nominal. Sales of 16,000 bus Penna. and Western Red at $1,16@1,19; 6,200 bus Western Amber, fair and good, at $1,20@1,22; 8,500 bus do do, very choice, at $1,21@1,26½; 2,00 bus choice Western White at 1,28@1,30; 400 bus No. 2 Spring at 1,01½. Receipts for the week, 22,400.

RYE—Comes in slowly, and sells at 95 cents. Receipts for the week, 300 bus.

CORN—The market has been a little more active, notwithstanding the limited receipts; price remain without change. Sales of 44,000 bus Penna. and Western Yellow at 77@79—chiefly at 77@78c, in the cars; 16,000 bus Western high mixed part at 78 cents and part on secret terms; 400 bus Southern White at 78 cents. To-day the market closed more active, with sales of 8,000 bus Penna. and Western Yellow, in the cars and warehouse, at 79c, and 13,400 bus Western high mixed, part at 78@79c, f. o. b., and part on private terms, 23,300 bus were shipped to Liverpool per "Pennsylvania." Receipts for the week, 127,000 bus.

OATS—Are in better demand, and with light receipts and stocks prices improved at the close. Sales of 31,000 bus Western White at 65½@69c—mostly in store and from cars at 67@68c; and 3,700 bus Western mixed at 62@65 cents. To-day 7 000 bus Western White sold at 67@69c, and some mixed at 65 cents. Receipts for the week, 35,700 bus.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

—"PETERSON'S JOURNAL OF POPULAR LITERATURE," for March, is received. Henry Peterson supplements his article in the last number on the Growth of the Earth, with an article on "THE DRYING UP OF THE SEAS," in which he shows how all the great inland seas are being dried up and wasting away, and therefore how strong the presumption is that the vast ocean itself is thus gradually drying up. He also brings forward some entirely new views as to the formation of mountain ranges and volcanoes.

John Smith has another article on the Hard Times, entitled "THE TRUE FINANCIAL POLICY," in which he takes the ground that the recent Resumption Bill, though manifesting great ingenuity as an embodiment of a diverse public opinion, is in itself a very unwise measure. He holds that the "menace" of Resumption is now preventing the revival of business, as capatilists will not invest in any business or industrial enterprise until the low price of labor, produce, land, &c., which Resumption will necessarily compel, are reached. His view seems to be, Let the Currency alone, neither increase nor diminish its volume; and the gradual expansion of business of the country will ultimately bring it so near the value of gold, that we shall be able to glide almost imperceptibly into specia payments, if the latter should be sound desirable.

Besides these two articles there is a curious story called "A Druggist's Romance," by Eliza Archard, an interesting paper upon the hardships endured by Russia's political prisoners while "On the way to Siberia," a finely written romance entitled "Was-Hael," and a large number of other first-class stories, &c.

Terms: $3.00 a Year in Advance. Two copies $5.00 Postage Prepaid. Specimen copies 25 cents. Address H. PETERSON & Co., Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

—One of the greatest pleasures which St Nicholas brings to its readers, is certainly the monthly chapters of Miss Alcott's story. This time we catch a delightful glimpse of the "Eight Cousins," at home and in the very midst of the confusion and riot produced by the return of their sailor-uncle. Just as interesting, also, is the sight of Rose in her new fancy-costume, and the peep with her into that curious room never before explored, where she makes a great discovery.

But Rose is not the only character in the March number who meets with a remarkable surprise, for in Mr. Trowbridge's seriel the young Surveyor is completely astonished by finding his stolen horse when and where he does. If ever there was an ingenious horse-thief, the fellow who captured "Snowfoot" was he! It is a proof of his cunning, that Jack, after all his efforts to find the missing animal, and his search has been at last strangely rewarded, is not yet "out of the woods," and seems to be threatened with another unexpected adventure.

Almost all boys and girls like narratives of wars and battles, and they will find a story of this sort in the poem called "The War of the Rats and Mice," which is every whit as thrilling in its way as the deeds of any favorite hero from Richard Cœur-de-Lion to Jack the Giant-Killer. The illustrations by Stephen are admirable; one of them, a true "battle-piece," representing a tournament both exciting and novel.

As for the rest of the number, we have several excellent stories by Frank R Stockton, Amalie La Forge and others, sketches of travel and science with illustrations, an article by W. H. Rideing on the Naval Academy at Annapolis, a French story, two delightful poems by Lucy Larcom and Mary E. Bradley, and—besides other good things—the irrepressible Jack-in-the-Pulpit, whose fun and jokes are always full of wisdom.

—Harper's Magazine for March, with over a hundred illustrations, is crowded with the richest variety of interesting reading matter. The opening article, by William H. Rideing, beautifully illustrated, introduces us to the bold scenery, antiquities, and quaint customs of the Isle of Man. A briefer illustrated article, by J. D. Champlin, Jun., describes the wonderful and picturesqe Mont St. Michael. James Parton continues his illustrated papers on Caricature, this month treating of "Caricature in the Middle Ages," with especial reference to those burlesque designs which disfigure cathedrals and prayer-books. Eugine Lawrence gives a series of pen-and-ink pictures of the "Remains of Lost Empires," accompanied by magnificent engravings. A thrilling story is told by S. S. Conant, in another illustrated paper, of David Livingstone's researches in Africa and his last days. The Fifth Paper of the Centennial Series concludes the review of Mechanical Progress, with an exceedingly interesting and profusely illustrated account of those inventions of the century which concern printing and book-making.

John Bigelow concludes his remarkable paper on "De Witt Clinton as a Politician," giving us a striking account of the antagonism between Clinton and Van Buren, of Clinton's duel with Swartwout, and of his Presidential aspirations.

The second installment is given of Miss Thackeray's seriel story, "Miss Angel;" and the "Rape of the Camp," is continued.

There are two excellent short stories. The poetical contributions comprise "A Charming Woman," by John G. Saxe; "Two Sonnets," by Alfred H. Louis; and "A Dream," by Miss H. R. Hudson.

The editorial departments are especially interesting, Mr. Curtis contributing one of his most characteristic Easy Chairs, and the Scientific Record being unusually full and and interesting.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 114¼

The money market remains about as it has been during the past fortnight. The effect of the free banking clause in the Sherman finance bill, recently passed by Congress, has been just what was claimed for it; to increase the National bank circulation of the country, several millions having already been applied for. Judge Kelly still holds to the opinion, that his 3.65 convertible bond scheme, was the most feasable plan to relieve the wants of the country, and feels quite sanguine, that it will be adopted at no distant day as being the only means of final relief.

The manufacuring interests continue at a low ebb. Those who have capital at their command are indifferent as to whether they increase their stock on hand or not while those who are short of funds, are compelled to keep moving or colapse, which still keep the outlook as unsatisfactory as it was a year ago.

Bellefonte Markets.

BELLEFONTE, Feb. 24, 1875.

WHEAT—The supply of wheat still continues to be in excess of the demand, but we have no change in price, notwithstanding the price at Milroy is said to be ten cents per bushel below our quotations. So long as the Railroad Companies continue to discriminate against local freight just so long must the price of grain in the interior be below what it ought to be as compared with Western prices. For instance the freight on flour from Chicago to Scranton is 80 cents per barrel, and from Bellefonte to the same place it is 62 cts., although the distance from Chicago is about nine hundred miles and from here it is only one hundred and seventy miles.

CORN—In corn there is very little doing, and the transactions are light at our quotations, although there is some demand for shelled.

RYE—There is little rye being offered, which is readily taken by distillers.

OATS—Oats are offered in small quantities and the supply is not equal to the demand.

HAY AND STRAW—Hay is offered in abundance but straw is scarce and wanted.

BUTTER—There is a greater scarcity of good butter than any other article in the shape of produce.

If some of the readers were compelled to eat such butter as they sell to our stores, we think they would be prompted to make a better article. We think it is high time that our borough authorities would either arrange to have a market house built or adopt such measures as will establish a curb stone market which would compel butter makers to come in contact with consumers who would soon find out if they did not make good butter they would not be able to find buyers.

EGGS—Owing to the extreme cold weather the production of eggs has been limited which makes them scarce.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Charles Lamb, Essayist, denounces all spirituous liquors as "Wet Damnation." Poor fellow; he knows whereof he spake, by sad experience, and if living, would apply the same to Alocholic Excitants, advertised as Curealls. But there is one Tonic and Alterative in existance—the best the world has ever known—which contains no alcohol. It is DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. 8-4w

WORTHY OF NOTE.—An exchange says there is scarcely a day passes that we do not hear, either from persons coming into our office or in some other way, of the success of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment in the cure of coughs and cold, so prevalent about town just now.

If we can benefit the readers of the REPUBLICAN any by recommending Parsons' Purgative Pills to be the best anti-billous medecine in the country we are willing to do so. We have had as good a chance to know as any one.

☞ E. F. KUNKLE'S BITTER WINE OF IRON has never been known to fail in the cure of weakness, attended with Symptoms; indisposition to exertion; loss of memory; difficulty in breathing; general weakness; horrer of disease; weak, nervous trembling; dreadful horror of death; night sweats; coldfeet; weakness; dimness of vision; languor; universal lassitude of the muscular system; enormous appetite with dyspeptic systems: hot hands; flushing of the body; pallid countenance and eruptions on the face, purifying the blood; pain in the back; heaviness of the eyelids; frequent black spots flying before the eyes with temporary suffusion and loss of sight; want of attention, etc. These symptoms all arise from a weakness, and to remedy that use E. F. Kunkle's Bitter wine of Iron. It never fails. Thousands are now enjoying health who have used it. Take only E. F. Kunkle's.

Beware of counterfeits and base imitations. As Kunkle's bitter wine of Iron is so well known all over the country, druggists themselves make an imitation and try to palm it off on their customers, when they call for Kunkle's Bitter wine of Iron.

Kunkle's Bitter wine of Iron is put up only in $1 bottles and has a yellow wrapper nicely put on the outside with the proprietor's photograph on the wrapper of each bottle. Always look for the photograph on the outside, and you will always be sure to get the genuine. $1 a bottle, or six for $5 dollars. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

TAPE WORM REMOVED ALIVE.

CONSUMPTIVES, TAKE NOTICE.—Every moment of delay makes your cure more helpless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectibility, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch St., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. 5-4t

VEGETINE

Strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

VEGETINE

Is not a vile, nauseous compound, which simply purges the bowels, but a safe, pleasant remedy which is sure to purify the blood and thereby restore the health.

VEGETINE

Is now prescribed in cases of Scrofula and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians, owing to its great success in curing all diseases of this nature.

VEGETINE

Does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a ficticious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health.

VEGETINE

Was looked upon as an experiment for some time by some of our best physicians, but those most incredulous in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

VEGETINE

Instead of being a puffed-up medicine has worked its way up to its present astonishing success by actual merit in curing all diseases of the blood, of whatever nature.

VEGETINE

Says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a purifyer. Hearing of its many wonderful cures after all other remedies had failed, I visited the labratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

VEGETINE

Is acknowledged and recommended by physicians and apothecaries to be the best purifier and cleanser of the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health.

PROOF.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for these complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheertully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health. Respectfully yours.

U. L. PETTINGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., 10 State St. Boston.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26, 1872

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—The two bottels of VEGETINE furnished me by your agent, my wife has used with great benefit.

For a long time she has been troubled with dizziness and costiveness; these troubles are now entirely removed by the use of VEGETINE.

She was also troubled with Dyspepsia and General Debility; and has been greatly benefitted.

THOMAS GILMORE, 299½ Walnut Street.

FEEL MYSELF A NEW MAN.

NATICK, Mass., June 1st, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—Through the advice and earnest persuasion of Rev. E. S. Best, of this place, I have been taking VEGETINE for Dyspepsia, of which I have been suffering for years.

I have used only two bottles and already feel myself a new man. Respectfully,

DR. J. W. CARTER.

REPORT OF A PRACTICAL CHEMIST AND APOTHECARY.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 1543½ dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended, that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity. Very respectfully yours,

A. I. GILMAN, 463 Broadway.

THE ILLUSTRATED

HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE,

WITH WHICH IS INCORPORATED

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE.

It is the intention of the conductors of this Magazine to still further make it a model of literary and mechanical excellence, and, with this view, no advantage will be neglected which either talent or capital can command to render each issue an agreeable and instructive compendium of

POPULAR READING.

Its pages will be devoted to popular literature, science, art, education and social development. Its characteristic feature is comprehensiveness. The manuscripts now on hand, and others especially engaged, embrace an usually attractive list of

DESCRIPTIVE SKETCHES OF TRAVEL, SERIAL STORIES, TALES, POEMS, PAPERS ON SCIENCE AND ART, POPULAR ESSAYS, NARRATIVES, LITERARY CRITICISMS, FASHIONS, etc.,

together with a variety of able and interesting articles upon the important Questions of the Day. A large portion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine hereafter constituting one of its most attractive features.

The purpose of the Publishers is to furnish a periodical which shall be instructive in THE HOUSEHOLD, THE LIBRARY and THE READING ROOM, giving an abundance of entertaining and popular literature and information for both old and young, carrying light comfort and good nature into every family, and making it acceptible for the whole Household—father and mother, boys and girls, young men and young women.

THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSHOLD MAGAZINE

includes several DISTINCT DEPARTMEMTS, each under competent and efficient management, viz:

1. SKETCHES—consisting of Descriptions of Travel and Adventure, Serial Stories, Tales and Narratives, lavishly and appropriately illustrated.
2. MISCELLANY—made up of brilliant extracts from new books, highly entertaining sketches of notable persons and things from the best Foreign Publications, Poems and Papers on Science and Art.
3. EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT—in which is given brilliant essays upon a wide range of subjects; social topics discussed and current incidents and doings glanced at.
4. FASHION DEPARTMENT—containing a resume of the Paris, London and New York Fashions, illustrated with ingraving of the latest styles.
5. LETERARY NOTES—devoted to reviews and criticisms of new books and general information.
6. CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT—furnishes instruction and entertainment to the Boys and Girls, and those older people who have young hearts. It is embellished with high class illustrations of Natural History, Wonderful Scenery and rare incidents.
7. HOUSEKEEPER'S DEPARTMENT—comprising information and receipts, many of which are original and published for the first time all collected from the most authentic sources.

It will be the constant aim of the HOUSEHOLD PUPLISHING COMPANY to make THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE in the future, as WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE has been in the past,

THE BEST DOLLAR MONTHLY PUBLISHED, sparing neither effort, trouble nor expense in securing the BEST WRITERS as contributors, and the BEST ARTISTS to produce illustrations to enrich its pages.

AGENTS WANTED.—We require a good, FAITHFUL AGENT in every town throughout the United States and Canada, who will earnestly engage in the business of procuring subscribers—not for a few days or a month only, but permanently—with a firm determination to canvass thoroughly and carefully the entire field selected, improving every opportunity to realize all that can be made from the introduction of the Magazine.

OUR PREMIUM AND CLUBBING LISTS offer great inducements for working in our behalf. Schools and Churches have here an unusual opportunity to procure Musical Instruments from the best manufacturers, with comparatively slight exertions. Artisans, Professional Men and Students may gratify their literary tastes by ordering from the Clubbing Lists. Children may earn and own many long and desired articles by obtaining the few subscribers required.

TERMS—YEARLY SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00.

Specimen Copies mailed, post-paid, to any address upon receipt of ten cents.

The postage within the United States is Ten Cents a year, which must be forwarded with the subscription, as the new Postal Law requiring the prepayment of postage on all magazines by publishers themselves, instead of subscribers, compels us to collect the postage in advance.

Send for Circulars containing rates of commission and inducements to canvassers, and the Premium and Clubbing Lists.

THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

We continue to offer this celebrated Oil Chromo in connection with the ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE, furnishing them to our subscribers upon the following very generous terms:

WITH MOUNTED CHROMO, $2.00. UNMOUNTED CHROMO, $1.50

The Mounted Chromo is delivered at our office, or by canvassers, or boxed and sent by express at the subscriber's expense, or sent by mail upon receipt of Twenty Cents for extra postage. The Unmounted Chromo is sent free by mail.

All communications must be addressed

Agricultural.

☞ NOTE.—We earnestly desire that this department of our paper shall be made as useful as possible to our Agricultural friends, and therefore extend a cordial invitation to all parties interested, to favor us with contributions. Individuals who have made useful experiments and yet do not feel competent to write them out in form for publication, if they will favor us with the results we will take pleasure in putting them in proper shape.

Give Things an Early Start.

In our climate, with many kinds of crops, we miss sadly at harvest time the benefit which one or two weeks earlier start in spring could give them. This is especially the case with corn, potatoes, peas, and other hardy crops, which a late spring frost is not liable to injure. And with such crops there is nothing like giving them an early start. If one has not a hot bed—tomatoes, lettuce and cabbage plants, and even early potatoes may be started in little boxes about the kitchen stove or in the south window, and the rapidity with which such plants come forward when put out, and their early maturity, will more than compensate for all the trouble it will be to give them an early start. Peas and potatoes for early crops may be planted very early, and all who live near towns and villages, should take advantage of the good market afforded them, and give these crops an early start this spring. Get the hot bed ready if you have one, if not provide one, and plant in it a general collection of garden seeds, which may be transplanted to the garden, as soon as the plants have attained sufficient size. And don't forget to appropriate one corner of the hot-bed to a few flower seeds, that the plants may be put out by the front door, and make the yard beautiful with their presence. Now is the time to be thinking about such things.

Farmer's Blunders.

A correspondent of the Pacific Rural Press thus writes of blunders made by farmers. He says: "For one, mine have been numerous. Much has been learned by bitter experience only; such, for example, as hanging a a fresh hide on the fence to dry in the sun, and afterwards selling it for fifty cents, whereas it would have brought $2 if well dried in the shade. But the blunder of blunders of farmers has been the high rates of interest paid for the use of money. Much of the money borrowed from the banks on mortgage on the farm, is now drawing interest quarterly, and even monthly, and at a ruinous rate at that. Persons have run in debt under the impression that interest would be coming down lower and lower—when, of course, land would go up, and many of them have come to the conclusion that they been making farm blunders. —Now, 'as success is the measure of ability,' let this class walk meekly, weak sisters as they are, and take their black marks as managers: and before a streak of luck strikes them let them caution the inexperienced ones, who have not yet 'put their foot into it,' It is not always popular to tell the truth, but it is generally proper; and let us advise beginners to go slowly and cautiously, and shun debt as much as possible, and especially at present rate of interest.

Grasshoppers.

In reply to an inquiry made by a correspondent of the New York Sun, as to whether the grasshoppers that are so destructive to the crops in the West, are the same as those which infested Egypt, and also whether the seventeen year locust is a native of this country or imported, its able agricultural editor, Mr. Fuller, says:

"The grasshoppers of the Western States are an entirely distinct species from those inhabiting Egypt or other portions of the Old World, but belong to the same family as the locust of ancient as well as modern times. Grasshopper is a mere English name for the hundred or more distinct species which inhabit our country. The one to which you refer as doing so much damage in the Western States, is known to entomologists as Caloptenus spretus. The seventeen year locust is not a locust, that is, it does not belong to the grasshopper or Locustidæ, but to the Cicadas, a large species of flies, which have no manibles for biting or masticating food like the true locust; consequently they do not consume vegetable food, and the only injury they do to plants is to puncture the stems and twigs in depositing their eggs. They are also native Americans, at least so far as is known to science or history."

Moisture at Will.

M. Parat is said to be the discoverer of a way of doing without rain, if necessary. He knows that the air is full of moisture, and he knew that chloride of calcium would attract and condense it, for cultural purpose. He has applied this chloride on sand hills, on road beds, on grass, on all sorts of soil, successfully, and he has ascertained that it may be applied in such proportions as will produce the irrigation of land more cheaply and efficiently than by means of canals or other methods of securing artificial irrigation. One of M. Parat's applications will produce and retain abundant moisture for three days, when the same amount of water introduced by the present method will evaporate in an hour. He believes that his preparation will not only produce two blades of grass where but one now grows but that it will render possible fields, meadows and prosperity, where now there is nothing but sand and desert waste.

Hens' Teeth.

"Scarce as hens' teeth." This is an old saw. Yet you should see to it that your fowls are possessed of good teeth. Not natural ones, exactly neither artificial ones, but natural artificial ones, in the shape of gravel stones, with which they may triturate the food in their gizzards. Hens' teeth comprise no incisors, no canines, but are all grinders. The flatish or scaly gravel, is not suitable, but a form approaching the spherical is to be preferred. If your neighborhood is not gravelly, blocks of granite or quartz may be reduced to irregular, angular fragments, which are excellent. Shells of the quahog or round clam pounded serve the double purpose of grinding and affording a supply of lime for the formation of egg shells, and on this account are better than oyster-shells.

As an evidence of the progressive Democracy of the State, we may announce that the following resolution introduced in the House of Representives at Harrisburg, was voted down forthwith by a Democratic majority:

"Whereas, Nearly one month has passed since the organization of the House, and from various causes the public business has almost entirely been set aside during that time; therefore, Resolved, That we will henceforth cordially unite in the determination to dispatch public business with an earnest desire for the public good."

THE boy-murderer, Jesse Pomeroy, has at length been doomed to the gallows by the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. It is a sad case, as it has been clearly proved that the boy is not a responsible person, but experience with him indicates that the gallows is the only protection society can have against him. He has been imprisoned, but invaribly turned his attention to murder as soon as released, and although it may be a stern justice that demands his execution, it seems to be the only course that, under the circumstances, can be pursued.

THE Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times writes: "There is not much of the mealy-mouth about Beck, of Kentucky. Says that sturdy Scotch blood and blue-grass breeding: 'Dawes, in money matters, is one of the salt of the earth. I have sat beside him in the committee-room, and watched him in open House for six years. His political ideas and mine differ as widely as those of any two men who were ever in Congress, but I admire an honest man, even if he comes from Massachusetts. Dawes fills my ideas of incorruptibility. I have seen his children paddling through the snow to school, and his wife riding in unhealthy street cars, while families of his associates were whirling around Washington in carriages they never could have rode in honestly. The man who carries as little cash out of Congress, after staying eighteen years, in the House, as I know Dawes to possess, is entitled to all the good words I can give him.'"

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

DR. BELLS SPECIFIC REMEDIES have stood the test of thirty years, and are still unequaled for their great efficacy in curing all diseases of the Urino-Genetal system arising from youthful indiscretion or imprudent habits.

YOUTH, MANHOOD, AND OLD AGE are alike benefitted by them, and a cure may confidently be expected in all cases of Nervous Debility and Depression, Gravelly Deposits, Pains and Irritations, Seminal Weakness, Emissions, Discharges, and other Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, conditions arising from one and the same cause.

These remedies can be used without detection, as they never nauseate the stomach, or interfere with diet, or business pursuits.

Trial boxes, properly secured from observation, will be sent by mail, on receipt of ONE DOLLAR—pamphlet containing full particulars, sent on receipt of stamp. Address, 47-3m JOHN LAMB, P. O. Box 2385, N. York.

ADVERTISING: Cheap: Good: Systematic. All persons who contemplate making contracts with newspapers for the insertions of advertisements, should send 25 cents to Geo. P. ## HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR-DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye.

FOR THE WHISKERS.

As our Renewer in many cases requires too long a time, and too much care, to restore gray or faded Whiskers, we have prepared this dye, in one preparation, which will quickly and effectually accomplish this result. It is easily applied, and produces a color which will neither rub nor wash off. Sold by all Druggists. Price Fifty Cents.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS. — While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM

OR

WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION. — The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

Address all orders to JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., 8 and 9 College Place, New York.

EGYPTIAN
Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

HOLLOWAY'S
Pills and Ointment

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PHYSICIAN.

THE GRAND PRINCIPLE that operates in these wonderful medicines is the power that they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Limbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ring-Worms, Salt Rheums, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of the Pulminary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each bottle has the Holloway and Co.'s trade mark on it.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PENNSYLVANIA.—Your attention is specially invited to the fact that the National Banks are now prepared to receive subscription to the Capital Stock of the Centennial Board of Finance. The funds realized from this source are to be employed in the erection of the buildings for the International Exhibition, and the expenses connected with the same. It is confidently believed that the Keystone State will be represented by the name of every citizen alive to patriotic commemoration of the one hundred birth-day of the nation. The shares of stock are offered for $10 each, and subscribers will recieve a handsomely steel engraved Certificate of Stock, suitable for framing and preservation as a national memorial.

Interest at the rate of six per cent per annm will be paid on all payments of Centenial Stock from date of payment to January 1, 1876.

Subscribers who are not near a National Bank can remit a check or post-office order to the undersigned.

AT PRIVATE SALE.

A valuable farm containing 215 acres, situate within one mile of Milesburg, and three miles of Bellefonte, at the junction of the Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe railroads, near the depot, Schools, Churches, Post office, Mills, etc. The lands are FREE from STONE, level, well fenced, and under a good state of cultivation. A valuable vein of

is on the farm, and a village is growing up around it, which gives a fair prospect of an increase in value before long. The Philipsburg turnpike runs through it for a distance of ¼ of a mile rendering a large strip on each side available for house lots, from which the entire price of the farm might be realized, lots having sold heretofore for $100 apiece. The farm is well watered, having water in all the fields, good wells at the house and barn with pumps all in good order. There also are 50 acres of good

PINE AND OAK TIMBER.

The land has a southern exposure and is therefore very early. There are two houses on the farm, both facing the turnpike. One containing five rooms on the first floor with Hall and five on the second and back Kitchen, with room over-head. Connected with this house is a good log barn, ice house and other out buildings. On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be if purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. Terms easy. Inquire of James L. Sommerville, or R. T. Downing, or at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA?

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alternative known."

Ask your druggist for it.

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

Bellefonte and County.

—Sheriff Lingle of Osceola, has been appointed Notory Public.

—Tom Scott has at last found his must formidable foe concealed in a Garrett.

—Philipsburg will have Ann Eliza Young, seventeenth wife of Brigham, to lecture next month.

—The election in Bellefonte last week was chiefly remarkable for the men who were defeated.

—The Baltimore Opera Cigar has been enlarged in size but still sells at the same low prices of 5 cents 6-3t.

—The school authorities of Pittsbur have instituted a new plan and forbidden any study out of school hours.

—The money will be refunded to any one who purchases an Opera Cigar at Welch's and is not satisfied that it is the best 5 cent cigar to be had in Bellefonte. 6-3t.

—The Philipsburg Journal brags about eating luscious big oranges, fresh from California. That's nothing; here we have dried-apple pie for dinner 'most every day.

—A half dozen Bellefonte young men availed themselves of good sleighing last week, to go over land to Lewisburg Union county. Lewisburg is the home of a large flock of marriageable young ladies.

—It is pleasant to note the progress of refining influences and broadening of social culture in our midst. No church in town now thinks of holding regular services on Sabbath, without having the choir perform at least one voluntary.

—Russell Errett, Esq., chairman of the Republican State committee, has called a meeting of the committee on Thursday, March 4th, at the Lochiel House, Harrisburg. A. O. Furst, Esq., the member from this county will take notice.

—Hurrah for Senator John A. Lemon, of Blair County. He has introduced into the State Senate, a bill enacting a stay of execution for two years, on all judgments exceeding two hundred dollars. All us fellows that belong to the debtor class are in favor of it.

—The Lutheran Church of Centre Hall, has for some time back, been considered unsafe for holding public worship, and the members have determined to tear it down and build anew. They will hold a congregational meeting on next Saturday to put the project in proper shape.

—The Gazette & Bulletin men have taken great pains to assure the public that the "events of the day" are proper subjects for them to compose witty and humorous articles upon. Well, we have been taking that paper for some time, and are tired waiting for their witty and humorous articles. Why don't you publish some of them? We have no objection.

School House Burned.—The Moshannon school house, in Snow Shoe township was entirely destroyed by fire on the morning of the 12th inst. We are informed by J. H. Crissman, Esq. Secretary of the school board, that the house was set on fire by some unknown party. The loss is estimated at eight-hundred dollars; insured for six hundred in Lycoming Mutual.

—Mr. F. C. Richards, our excellent watchmaker and jeweller, has removed his store to a very pleasant room in Blanchard & McCafferty's building on High Street near the depot, one door south of the sunny side coal and lime office. Mr. Richards has proved himself a superior workman in watches and jewelry and his increasing business has compelled him to secure more commodious quarters.

—Look out for "wit and humor" hereafter in the "Gazette & Bulletin." Its editors advertise that they couldn't live if they didn't write witty and humorous articles on the "passing events of the day." Everybody is entitled to daily sustenance of some kind or other; and if the above gentlemen can live on those weak daily self producing potations of "wit and humor," we have no doubt it will lessen the drain on Peter Herdic's pocket.

The Needy.—The action of the Christian women of Bellefonte, in providing for the wants of the needy among us, is a matter of which all of us may feel proud. They have formed a band of their own, and have sent from their number committees to every family in the town that was thought to be in need of food, clothing or fuel. These they supplied from their own homes until it was found that the drain upon them was too heavy, and then, but not before, did they call on the public for assistance. At the public meeting, of which we gave a report last week, a fund of five hundred dollars was raised. This amount was wisely placed in the hands of these ladies, so that it might be distributed to the most needy. This has been, and is being done quietly, systematically and thoroughly. When the present fund is exhausted another public meeting will be called to replenish the treasury. We are particularly pleased with the quiet and unostentatious way in which supplies are distributed. Nobody but the ladies themselves know who has been relieved. There is many a willing man in Bellefonte whose strong arm has never refused to work for the family depending on him; but when there is no work to do, and when credit goes with the last loaf of bread or pound of meat, then comes the soul-trying struggle between honest pride and biting poverty. Our Bellefonte women, God bless them, have brought relief to many families thus situated and will still continue to provide for them, until Spring and good times come to their relief.

—Potter township in the late canvas developed three separate and distinct elements in their Democracy. The "straight-outs" were the few faithful ones who voted for Alexander; the "Modocs" were the wing that did not vote for Alexander; and the third wing is called the "Mushheads:" These are the men that stirred up the opposition to Alexander and, on the day of election, backed out. Their leader is David Guise, who was a Modoc till it came to voting and then he backed out. His first lieutenant is "Danny" Luse, who weakened on the Modocs, the day of the election. Before that he was a strong anti-Alexander man. But, like a natural mush head he was afraid of making somebody mad, and so he wrote both Alexander's and Campbell's name on his ticket and cast his ballot for both. The election board, in counting off, threw his double ticket under the table and now "Danny" proposes to institute legal proceedings against them. Dr. Smith was also a member of the latter wing. His Modoc proclivities failed on the eve of the election and during the night he took sick at the stomach and had to keep his bed all day Tuesday and live on water-cracker diet. He recovered, however, in time to be down town at five o'clock Wednesday morning to inquire about the result. There are several others that we could name but it might injure their standing in the party and therefore we refrain.

A Card from a Milesburg Clergyman.—Messrs. Editors: It is a duty, and should always be a great pleasure to acknowledge expressions of kindness. I therefore, with your permission, desire to acknowledge the receipt of a large box filled with tea, sugar, coffee, butter, ham, beef, muslin, calico, a great variety of preserved fruits, and other things "too numerous to mention" from friends in Snow Shoe, Centre Co., Pa., on the 13th inst. This is not the first time these people have thus expressed their good will. I have also an order for 4 sacks of flour from one of these friends. This is generous, and all this from people who are always prompt in paying their pastor's salary to the full. Such acts speak for themselves and deserve a public acknowledgement. Yours truly,

W. O. Wright.

Milesburg, Centre Co., Pa., Feb. 15th 1875.

Sleighing with a Girl.—Of all the joys vouchsafed to man in life's tempestuous whirl, there's naught approaches heaven so near as sleighing with a girl—a rosy, laughing, buxom girl, a frank good-natured, honest girl, a feeling, flirting, dashing, doting, smiling, smacking, jolly, joking, jaunting, jovial, poser-looking, dear little duck of a girl. Pile up your wealth mountain-high, you sneering, scoffing churl! I'll laugh as I go by with my jingling bells and girl—the brightest, dearest, sweetest girl, the trimmest, gayest, neatest girl, the funniest, flushiest, frankest, fairest, roundest, ripest, roguishest, rarest, spunkiest, spiciest, squirmishest, squarest, best of girls, with drooping lashes—half-concealing, love-provoking, amorous lashes—just the girl for a chap like me to court, and love, and marry, you see, with rosy cheeks, clustering curls, the sweetest and the best of girls.

—One of Miss Vinnie Ream's first efforts may be seen any day in the sitting room of Mr. R. H. Duncan's residence at Spring Mills. It is a plaster bust of one of Vinnie's childish ideals, and was made when she was a wee bit of a girl and her father a clerk in the store then belonging to Mr. Duncan's father.

—Andrew Ocker has been appointed post master at Madisonburg.

—All the iron works in this county are now in full operation, with prospects for increase of orders.

—James Welch at the noted Post Office Book Store is sole agent in this place for the celebrated Opera Cigars. 6-3t.

—Mr. Samuel Farrer has the contract to build the new Methodist church at Centre Hall. It will be commenced forthwith.

—Mrs. Joseph Crotzer was buried at Centre Hall on Sunday last. It was the largest funeral held in that place for a long time.

—The Living Age, an Altoona temperance paper, publishes the names of all witnesses subpoenaed in that city on liquor cases that are brought before Court.

—In the spirited contest for the Mayoralty of Lock Haven, last week, R. R. Bridgens, Esq., Democrat, was elected over T. C. Hipple, Esq., Republican, by a majority of 48 votes.

—Furguson township has made application to court for a division into two election districts. Some voters, under the present arrangement, have to go a distance of twelve miles to get to the polls.

—Rev. C. O. H. Thomas, of the African Church in Bellefonte, will deliver a series of sermons on the transfiguration of Christ, commencing on Sabbath evening, Feb. 28th, 1875. All are invited.

—The members of the masonic fraternity in Penns Valley organized a lodge at Centre Hall with the following officers: W. M., Wm. B. Mingle; S. W., Wm. Fleming; J. W., D. C. Keller; Sec'y, C. F. Herlacher.

—During the late terrible weather in Lock Haven, a man could step out into the street, 'most any time after night and find a drunken individual leaning against a lamp post, while his ears, hands and feet were in process of congelation.

—A thousand years hence, Hon. A. Sternberg will be known to the students of history, not as the scholar and tobacconist, but as the great statesman and philosopher who, in 1875, led on the "Junior Sons of '76" from conquering unto conquest.

—The Bellefonte Republican does not believe in jokes. Nor we; if we did we would never think of reading the Republican.—Gazette & Bulletin.

And yet the Gazette & Bulletin takes occasion, every week, to steal an average of half a column from this paper without giving us credit. Centre County subscribers will please notice the reliability of the Gazette & Bulletin.

—The shipments of coal from Snow Shoe, last week were larger than ever before known. A larger number of miners are employed in the mines than at any time since the development of the coal interest in the Snow Shoe region. The shipments for December last were 7,900 tons and those for January were considerably in advance of that amount.

—The man with the performing bear was in town on Monday. He told his audiences that, a few years ago, his wife, after scalding him with hot water, took the bear and started out to give exhibitions on her own account, that two days afterward, the bear in a fit of anger rushed upon her and hugged her to death. At present, there are a good many men in town who want to buy an able bodied bear.

—The election is over and Powers is ahead! He has just received a large and carefully selected stock of boots and shoes for spring and summer wear. His stock comprises goods of all styles and prices; none can fail to be pleased who give him a call. Edwin C. Burt's celebrated ladies shoes, which are acknowledged to be the best in the world, have just been received. Remember the place, John Powers' Boot and Shoe store, opposite the Bush House.

—A correspondent from Coleville, alias Eggtown, writing to the Republican, says:

"We are trying to live soberly and honestly out here, paying our debts, observing the Sabbath, and trying, in our humble way to serve the Lord; but we don't want Steamboat Jack, nor Scare Face Charley, Whiskey John, nor Modoc Jim, to come out here to sing and pray for us and our children in our school house. We can sing ourselves and pray ourselves and if Bellefonte has no better praying men than the above, they had better keep them in town. We don't want the people of Bellefonte to think that we are in heathen darkness, and if we were "when the blind lead the blind, they both fall in the ditch."

Accident.—Edward Hess, says the Philipsburg Journal while hauling logs at Loch Lemond mills very narrowly escaped fatal injury, on Saturday. With James Mathley and a man by the name of Young, he had rolled a large pine log up the skids to finish a load. Just as the log was about to drop over upon the sleigh the cant hooks gave away and the log rolled down, and completely over his body and rested upon his head. It was removed as soon as possible, and he was found to be insensible. He was carried home, received medical attendance and is improving. No bones were broken, but he was hurt internally and considerably bruised. The skid timbers were some five inches in diameter, and together with the yielding snow, saved his life.

Accident.—Mr. Harvey Mann of Mann's Axe Factory, met with an accident on the railroad near Steubenville, Ohio, about two o'clock on last Friday morning. Mr. Mann was coming from Columbus to Pittsburg on an Express train over the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad. The train consisted of an express and baggage car, two passenger cars, two sleepers and one special car, the latter containing Gen. J. N. McCullough, first Vice President of the Penn. Central, and other officials. At Mingo Station, about four miles below Steubenville, a broken rail was encountered. The engine, tender and baggage car passed over safely, but as soon as the express car struck the rail it gave way and this car with the five following ones, were thrown off the track and precipitated down an embankment, a distance of about twenty-five feet, landing in a ravine in which was a mass of snow and ice. The night was quite clear, the moon shining brightly upon the snow, and the passengers had no trouble in appreciating the situation as soon as they came to a stand still. In sliding down the bank, some of the cars turned completely over. There were about forty passengers, in all, on board and they lost no time in getting out of the cars which were soon on fire, occasioned by the stoves upsetting and breaking in the fall. There were only five others injured beside Mr. Mann, who received a slight wound on the back of his head and several painful though not dangerous bruises about the body. He was sitting near the stove when the cars went over; everything was on fire in a few minutes and they were in danger of being suffocated or roasted alove, until the car door was broken off and a means of escape afforded. Among those most seriously injured were General McCullough and John G. Saxe, the poet; the latter must have thought that it wasn't just so pleasant, "Riding on a rail." Mr. Cameron Burnside, of this place, started for Steubenville on Friday afternoon, and a telegram received from him on Monday states that Mr. Mann is not at all dangerously hurt and that they will be home in a few days. He made a fortunate escape for which his many friends are grateful.

Editors Republican: As we are Pennsvalley "Modocs" and cannot have an organ in the fearless (?) Watchman nor in the courageous (?) Reporter, we ask space for a few lines with you to give our reasons for not supporting Wm. K. Alexander for Assembly, as many of our Democratic brethren over your way do not know what the reason was. We could not support Mr. Alexander because he was guilty of the following, and admits all the charges:

Last fall he was dissatisfied because he was not nominated, then he declared publicly "that he did not care any more for the Democratic party and that a little Modocing would do it some good." So we showed him that we did not care for him either, and tried "a little modocing" on him.

He voted against Mackey for Congress and voted with the bolters and Modocs for the independent candidate, and at the same time voted against Hon. S. S. Wolf, also our regular nominee for Assembly.

Can such a man be a good Democrat, and be entitled to the votes of good Democrats, I ask? No. Now some say they will mark us; well let them mark, but mind you, we only vote and ask no offices, and we will do some marking on a few more that need it and will get it too.

Come through the township and see if this is not the truth. We want our rights, and will not support men who want to run this side for us and dictate to us. Potter.

Personals.—Judge Orvis is holding Court in Bedford this week.

—Governor Curtin is in Washington City.

—Peter Herdic, Wm. H. Armstrong and several other paupers of Williamsport were asking alms of Bellefonters on Saturday.

—Hon. W. K. Alexander was sure he was defeated up till Wednesday evening after the election. When he found he was 160 votes ahead, his dimensions began to swell and before he started to Harrisburg he had grown into so much importance that he had to borrow a suit of clothing from "Yone" Kreamer of Millheim and even then his outfit was so close fitting that he could hardly sit down. 160 votes will put more flesh on to some men's bones than the most approved diet ever could.

—We are pleased to see our old friend, William Jones, Esq., of the First National Bank, on the streets again. Mr. Jones has been ill for a number of weeks, and at one time fears were entertained that his sickness might prove fatal; but his many friends will be glad to learn that, although somewhat weak, he is rapidly regaining strength, and bids fair to live many years yet. We hope that many years may come and go before the flag on the First National is placed at half mast on account of William Jones.

—The only place when the genuine Baltimore Opera can be had, is at Welch's Book Store. 6-3t.

—Ask for the Baltimore Opera Cigar enlarged in size and sold for 5 cts. each. 6-3t

—The musical convention, now in progress at Spring Mills is growing in interest and numbers with each succeeding session. If the sleighing continues good, that church at Spring Mills won't hold the people that come to the concert on Saturday evening.

—At Centre Hall the other day we had the pleasure of meeting Captain Beamer and H D Van Pelt, both gentlemen of leisure and active politicians. Captain Beamer has probably extracted more fun out of the late canvas than any other man in Potter towship, while Van Pelt quietly sobs over the Republican majority of 50.

—The difference: When a lady slips on the sidewalk she gracefully sits down, and that's the end of it. A man, however, always tries to catch himself on the other foot, drops all his bundles and uses his arms for a balancing pole, struggles desperately for ten seconds in a vain endeavor to recover his equilibrium and finally goes sprawling like a collapsed windmill; then he swears.

—The "Junior Sons of '76" a new organization in this place, took considerable interest in the election last week, and appeared to hold the balance of power. The society is composed of the hard-working, industrious element of the town and, guided as we think they are, by intelligent and honest men, we have no doubt that they will wield a considerable influence in future elections!!

—Hon. W. K. Alexander appeared in town on Thursday, carpet bag in hand, ready to start for Harrisburg. His pockets were filled with copies of that thrilling publication entitled the Legislative Record, and it was as hard for a common man to get an answer out of him as if he had served a lifetime as first-class hotel clerk. Things will tremble about the capital when Alexander takes his seat—he's so heavy.

—We were somewhat unfortunate in a statement we made last week to the effect that Mr. Sternberg was not elected chief-burgess. We wrote the article before the votes had been counted; but we never dreamed then that Bellefonte would really honor herself by electing such an intelligent, honest, sober, high-minded, virtuous gentleman as Mr. Sternberg to the head of our municipal government. We have no doubt but that he will make a good officer and, although opposed to him in politics, we feel bound to tender our congratulations to one who has succeeded in overcoming such a decided majority against his party.

For the Republican.

Messrs. Editors.—I have presumed to crave a small portion or your valuable paper in order to make public a few thoughts which I have noted down from time to time, on various subjects connected with popular education and the common school system. There need be no argument on the importance of a perfect free-school system. From the time a school-department was formed in this State, until the present, the tender plant has grown to be the mighty oak, under whose all-enfolding branches, the constitutional liberties of the Commonwealth have found refuge.

Let us invoke from the Legislative power of Pennsylvania, yet broader and deeper channels through which may flow our birth-right blessing—free education.

But, while we hope that the system may, year by year, grow more and more into that ideal perfection with which every true educator and philanthropist delights his vision, let us in Centre County, who have duties to perform, be ready, willing, and working, to raise our county educational status to a plane with the foremost in the state.

I will endeavor to speak, in this and succeeding articles, on the various duties and responsibilities devolving upon the County Superintendency, the directors of public schools, the teacher, the citizens as a whole, and lastly various educational appliences.

The time has past when the people believed the office of County Superintendent was of no importance or utility. For a number of years after the office was established, it was weighed down by incompetent men who succeeded in securing election; whose acquirements and natural abilities were neither competent to discharge its duties, or, even, to produce a shadow of the law's requirements. This is still its greatest weakness; and, when failures occur, the fault is never traceable to the law creating the office, but to its administration.

It is not difficult to contemplate an embodiment that would be capable of accomplishing an infinite amount of good to the youth of a county, in the person of a commanding officer of the schools. He should be a man of ripe education, for nothing short of a scholar of positive natural abilities and ripe acquirements will command the respect due to the office. He should be a superior man, an acknowledged superior in learning and experience.

It happens, too often, that men get into this office by low cunning or political trickery and not by possessing any single qualification for performing its duties. As a remedy, I would suggest competitive examinations. Let a public examination be held by competent and unbiased persons, so as to let the people of the County know which of the aspirants is best qualified by education and professional training, for the position; and let him be branded as a coward who has not the courage to submit to the examination. This is only carrying out the excellent idea of the Civil Service reform which has proved beneficial in an eminent degree, wherever tried. Education in its common acceptation is not the only requisite. A moral and religious character must be its constant companions; or it must only work mischief to those intended to be benefited and ultimate ruin to itself. A complete education is attained only by bringing the body and the intellect, the conscience and the religious affinities, through self-discipline in each, all out in full development, balanced in subjection to the will as formed by the enfolding of all. But of this I will speak further in my next communication.

Director.

Strange but True.—It is natural for people suffering with Consumption, Coughs, Severe Colds, or any other disease of the Throat and Lungs, to put off from day to day buying an article that they know has cured their neigbor, friend, or relative, yet they have no faith in it until it is too late. If you will go to your Druggist, F. P. Green, and get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, your immediate cure is as certain as you live. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and Druggists and people everywhere are elated over its success. You can get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size bottle 75 cents.

—Quite a commotion was noticed at the railroad depot yesterday morning when the passenger trains arrived. Crowds of excited people with baskets on their arms were going en masse to Sechler & Co's in the Bush House. He had just received a fresh stock of goods from the Eastern markets and everybody knows he sells the best of goods at very close prices. You can not fail to be pleased, and you'll be sure to find just what you want at Sechler & Co's.

—We understand that Harry K. Hicks has been admitted into the firm of Wilson & Hicks as partner. Harry is a pleasant obliging salesman and thorough business man, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the firm.

—We are now receiving Cayuga plaster finely ground ready for use, which is guaranteed to be as good a fertilizer as the white or Nova Scotia plaster which we sell at $9.50 per ton of 2000 lbs., Shortlidge & Co.

—It is an acknowledged fact that the best 5 and 10 cent cigars in town are at Green's Drug Store, also genuine Key West and Imported cigars—Try them. 8-4t.

The Lumbermen's Exchange.—The Lumbermen met pursuant to the call of the President pro tem, at Potter's Hall, Philipsburg, Feb 17, 1875, for the purpose of permanent organization of the Lumbermen's Exchange, which was organized, to be entitled The Lumbermen's Exchange of Central Pennsylvania, with the following officers elected to serve one year:

President—G. J. Weiser.

Vice President—Thos. McCauley.

Treasurer—C. Munson.

Secretary—O. Perry Jones.

Directors—D. W. Holt, W. W. Betts, G. F. Hoop, J. N. Casanova, J. F. Steiner, Benj. Jones, J. H. Forcay, James R. Graham.

DIED.

In Centre Hall, on the 12th inst., Mother Elizabeth Ossman, of consumption, aged 68 years, 7 months, 24 days.

At the residence of Mrs. Moran in Bellefonte, on Friday, Feb. 19th inst., Mrs. Elizabeth Moran Hays, wife of Mr. Alfred Hays.

Deceased was a sister of the late John Moran, was a native of Bellefonte, and leaves a great number of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. For a number of years, Mr. Hays with his family lived in the state of Missouri, but we understand the climate did not agree with the never very strong constitution of Mrs. Hays and she became the victim of a lingering consumption. When the sad fact that she could live but a short time, became too evident, she expressed a desire to return to Pennsylvania to die among her relatives and the friends of former years. About two weeks before she died, they started on their mournful journey coming home to die. She appeared to endure the fatigue incident to so long a trip better than was expected yet she faded day by day, until on Friday last her sufferings were ended in death. She leaves a husband and two sunny-faced, interesting little children, besides a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral on Monday was largely attended, Reverends Wylie and Crittenden officiating.
